Algerian Premier Offers Peace Overture to Rebels

ALGIERS (AP)—Premier Youssef Ben Khedda made peace overtures today to his rebellious deputy, Ahmed Ben Bella, whose army supporters have taken over the Moslem section of Oran and now control most of western Algeria.

Ben Khedda sent two ministers to the Moroccan capital of Rabat to seek reconciliation with the dissident deputy premier who has been demanding closer ties with France and close links to the Communist world.

Ben Bella, after conferring with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Cairo, left Sunday night presumably for Rabat, where he was awaited by Ben Khedda's envoys — Information Minister Mohammed Yazid and Minister of State Rabah Bitat.

About 1,500 heavily armed Algerian troops flocked across the Moroccan border into Oran over the weekend and received rousing cheers as they hailed Ben Bella as the hero of Algeria's independence.

Ben Bella slogans appeared on walls throughout the Moslem quarter of Algeria's second largest city. Boy Scouts and children's groups paraded with huge portraits of the deputy premier.

No Ben Bella slogans appeared in Oran's European quarter where 97 persons died in street fighting last Thursday. French police patrolled the streets of the sector by agreement with Moslem authorities.

Hundreds of Europeans from Oran lined up Sunday in a feverish effort to get plane seats for France.

French informants said about 120 Europeans were missing in the city, believed held in police stations as suspected terrorists of the defunct Secret Army Organization.

Foreign Minister Saad Dahlab said in a radio broadcast Sunday night differences among Algerian leaders are "not a crisis—only a misunderstanding."

Kennedy, who made the appeal in a statement issued at his Cape Cod summer residence Sunday, reported some encouragement in surveys indicating that more boys and girls were able to pass tests in school with organized fitness program, and that fewer failed after a year of physical education.

"There is strong evidence," Kennedy said, "that the threat to the strength of young America can be overcome. Yet, the shocking fact remains that at least 60 per cent of our children do not participate in a daily program of vigorous physical activity. This conclusively shows how much remains to be done, and this is the critical time of the year."

The President urged that school officials' plans for fall semesters include programs "that contribute to the health and well-being of all our boys and girls."

Kennedy's statement was based on a report submitted by Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and his consultant on youth fitness.

The report by Wilkinson summarized information obtained through pilot projects in North Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia and Pennsylvania and samplings by government agencies and youth fitness council studies.

Integration Grips Mostly from North

CLEVELAND (AP) — Only Northerners objected to his decision to integrate Catholic schools in Atlanta, Ga., Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan says, while many Southerners, including civic officials and a number of ministers and rabbis, reacted favorably.

"All the crank letters were from north of the Mason-Dixon line," the former Cleveland archbishop said in an interview Sunday. "Some were unsigned. Some were insulting. One called me a Castro."

Archbishop Hallinan was in Cleveland to preach at Masses and to seek funds to build chapels and schools in the rural areas of his archdiocese, where there are very few Catholics.

Soviet, China Show Accord in Peace Congress

Moscow Conference Draws Delegates From 101 Countries

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union opened a six-day "Congress for General Disarmament and Peace" in the Kremlin today with delegates treated to a pre-congress show of Soviet-Red Chinese unity.

Premier Khrushchev was to appear before several thousand delegates from 101 countries — 150 from the United States — to "dispel much of the fog generated by opponents of disarmament" in the words of a Pravda advance notice.

The Communist party newspaper set the theme for congress attacks on "American imperialism" and professions of solidarity between Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Sunday's Pravda carried a statement of Mao Tse-tung, chief of the Red China delegation to the congress, hailing Khrushchev's July 2 pledge of Soviet support for the Chinese Communists if an attack from Formosa developed.

Talk of a split between the two countries, Mao Tse-tung said, was invented by the Western press.

"It is well known to what lengths the reactionary press in the West has gone to invent alleged differences between China and the Soviet Union," Tse-tung said.

"Comrade Khrushchev's statement completely demolishes the provocative rumors spread in the West. It shows again that the friendship between our great peoples, among all the countries of the socialist camp, is inviolable."

Tse-tung said that despite Taiwan's "occupation" by U.S. military forces, Red China is for peaceful solution of disputes, adding, without elaboration, "We still offer the way of negotiations to the American government."

Tse-tung is not listed as holding any government post but he has been active in government-sponsored peace council projects.

His statement emphasized Soviet-Chinese cooperation. It omitted the familiar formula employed up to two or three years ago in which the Soviet Union was hailed as the leader of the socialist camp.

Famous Cleveland Hotel To Be Razed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hotel Hollenden is going out of business and demolition of all or most of the 1,000-room building is expected to get underway by the end of the year.

This was announced today by Peter D. Kleist, real estate developer and president of the 600 Superior Corp., owners of the 13-story hotel at East 6th Street and Superior Avenue.

Robert Joyce, the manager, said no more rooms will be rented to guests after Tuesday night and that three-month notices to vacate have been given the hotel's commercial and office tenants. These include business places on the first floor in addition to the press club and other organizations which have headquarters in upper floor suites.

The Hollenden has been a downtown landmark for 75 years.

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Airline officials said today there were no survivors among 94 persons aboard an Italian jetliner which crashed near Bombay Friday.

Volunteer Plus Bootlegged Services Provide Medical Care for Canadians

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—The big question in Saskatchewan's battle is not how much medical care the people are getting but how long this care can be maintained.

With the doctors' strike now in its ninth day, essential service still is being provided by volunteer physicians, temporary replacements from abroad and non-strikers. There is even a substantial amount of bootlegging by doctors supposedly on strike.

Obviously medical care in the province is not anything like normal, but doctors and government officials agree there has been no serious breakdown. There have been two or three deaths, which some individuals have blamed on the deadlock. The doctors vigorously deny this.

Dr. Neville Smith, Regina spokesman for the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, acknowledges there has been some damage to health. He is especially concerned with what may happen if the present situation continues indefinitely.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd, chief backer of the controversial compulsory medical care plan, says the province's health needs so far are being reasonably well looked after. But he also is concerned about the future.

The key question is whether the staff of 200 volunteer doctors, who are giving free emergency service in 34 designated hospitals, can be maintained indefinitely. Since the strike began July 1, the number already has shrunk by about 36.

In addition to the doctors serving in the emergency centers, there are about 40 doctors practicing under the Medical Care act, according to government officials, and another 80 practicing outside the act. This means that approximately 320 doctors—or almost half the province's 700 practicing physicians—are actually on duty. At this time of year about one-third of the doctors normally are on vacation.

Some 60 of Saskatchewan's 147 hospitals have no doctors, but these are all small and nurses are on duty to refer emergency cases to one of the operating centers. The nurses themselves are available for first-aid cases.

The province has a fleet of six government-owned air ambulances available for flying patients to emergency centers. Last week the air ambulances flew some 20 missions, which was about normal.

One unsolved problem is what to do about the large number of ill who do not qualify for emergency treatment. This includes the chronically ill and others who have ailments which normally would receive routine medical attention. Many types of prescriptions cannot be filled without a doctor's authorization.

16 Are Safe As Plane Flops

Turbo-Prop Catches Fire on Takeoff

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A Continental Airlines turbo-prop Viscount caught fire and crashed three minutes after taking off from Amarillo air terminal Sunday.

The 13 passengers and 3 crew members escaped minutes before several explosions rocked the wreckage. Several passengers suffered cuts and bruises in the wheels-up landing. They were released after treatment.

Capt. Lawrence Lauratis, El Paso, Tex., the pilot, said he and First Officer E. C. Gorman, also of El Paso, knew the plane was in trouble within a minute after they took off on a flight to Lubbock, Tex.

Neither Lauratis nor Gorman had time to make an announcement over the public address system but hostess Linda Howard, sensing the danger, walked calmly up and down the aisle reassuring the passenger.

Miss Howard, who has been a hostess 14 months, said, "I just asked God to help get the plane down as safely as possible."

"I don't know if I was really afraid or not. There was no time for that."

She said she reached the rear of the plane seconds before the crash, "fell into an empty seat and did not have time to put the seat belt on."

Because the fire was in the right wing, Miss Howard decided to get the passengers out an emergency door in the rear. Harold V. Hunter, a passenger from Gardena, Calif., helped her open the door.

The plane traveled 2½ miles from the end of the runway before the pilot set it down in a recently harvested wheat field.

Powderpuff Derby Finishers Arriving

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Mrs. Suzanne Parish, of Hickory Corners, Mich., and her copilot, Mrs. Jean Hixson, of Akron, Ohio, crossed the finish line first today in the all-woman transcontinental air race.

They arrived at 6:26 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, officials reported.

Mrs. Parish and Mrs. Hixson spent the night in Pittsburgh as did Mrs. Pat McEwen of Wichita, Kan., and her copilot Mrs. Donna Lee Shirley, of Dodge City, Kan.

These two planes were the first of a field of nearly 50 to get as far east as Pittsburgh on the 2,547-mile flight.

6-Year-Old's Innocent Plea Leads to Tragedy in Family

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—"Operator, can you help me? Will you call the police for me?" asked the small voice on the telephone.

"What's the matter, honey?" asked operator Nina Shaw early Sunday.

"There's blood all over my mommy's bedroom. There's a gun laying on the bed pointing at daddy. Mommy said something to me, but now she doesn't talk any more."

Alarmed, Mrs. Shaw asked the youngster for his name and address. Then Mrs. Shaw held 6-year-old Clancy Cottman on the line while she called police headquarters.

Moments later detectives arrived at the Cottman home. Clancy and his sister, Effie, 4, were at the door to admit them. In the bedroom the detectives found Clarence Cottman, resident manager of the Alexandria office of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Co., shot to death. Beside him was the unconscious body of his wife, Beatrice. A 45-caliber Colt automatic from which two shots had been fired was on the bed at Cottman's feet.

The 62-year-old broker had been shot once in his right temple. He was pronounced dead on the scene. His 43-year-old wife had been wounded by a slug that pierced her left cheek and lodged in the left side of her head.

She was taken to Alexandria Hospital where she told police that she and her husband had gotten up about 4 a.m. for a cup of coffee when Cottman complained he was unable to sleep.

Mrs. Cottman said she left him downstairs, returned to the bedroom and fell asleep. "I just don't know what happened," police quoted her as saying.

SURVIVING, in addition to her husband and two sons, are two brothers, Harold Binkley, 158 Wat St., and James Binkley, Fairview Ave., and a sister, Mrs. Leslie Garrett, 621 E. Mound St.

Arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Rail Union Chief Details Changes

CLEVELAND (AP)—The head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers told 364 delegates at the opening of the union's 14th triennial convention today that tremendous changes have been wrought in the past six years, many of them harmful to labor.

Roy E. Davidson said in remarks prepared for the convention:

"In the past six years we have seen organized labor generally become a target for probes, for investigations and smears, for Madison Avenue campaigns, for restrictions, regulations and laws."

Highlight of the convention, expected to last about five weeks, will be an address Tuesday by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Gold

42-Year-Old O-Ville Native Fatally Injured

A 42-year-old Columbus woman died at 8:10 p. m. yesterday in St. Anthony Hospital of injuries received in a two-car accident which occurred on East Main St., Columbus, early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Helen Bodoh, a Circleville native, died of internal injuries received when her husband's auto crashed into the rear of a vehicle driven by Richard Holtschulte, 38, Baltimore, O.

Mrs. Bodoh's husband, William, 43; and sons, Paul, 9, and Donald, 7; were released from the hospital after receiving emergency treatment.

The traffic victim was born in Circleville, January 24, 1910, the daughter of Sherman and Ruth May Gregg Binkley.

Brazilian President Asks OK of Premier

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart called on Brazil's Chamber of Deputies today to approve Francisco Brochado da Rocha as prime minister and end the 13-day-old political crisis which caused rioting that killed 11 persons.

Some deputies were said to oppose Rocha, a provincial official in Rio Grande do Sul State where he is a close associate of left-leaning Gov. Leonel Brizola.

It marked Goulart's third attempt to form a new government since Prime Minister Tancredo Neves and his Cabinet resigned June 26 to be eligible under the constitution to run in the October congressional elections.

The crisis has been marked by food riots and a general strike by labor unions demanding a prime minister favorable to their cause.

Industry Set To Loft 'Moon'

First Communications Satellite To Be Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Telstar, a communications relay satellite which represents private industry's first venture into space, is scheduled to be launched Tuesday.

Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. built the complex satellite, and will pay all costs involved in launching Telstar on a Thor-Delta rocket and tracking its orbital flight. The cost is estimated at $3 million, which Bell is to pay even if the mission fails.

If all goes as planned, television viewers in America and Western Europe will see the first live transatlantic television programs within a week, with signals relayed by Telstar.

The satellite's planned orbit will range from 600 to 3,500 miles above the earth. With its more than 15,000 parts, Telstar weighs 170 pounds.

Andover, Maine, which has sending and receiving capability, and Holmdel, N.J., which will receive only, are the two principal U.S. ground stations.

The three major U.S. television networks are planning a 12-minute news transmission to Europe via Telstar. The European Broadcasting Union, representing 16 countries, will handle a program for beaming to the United States. The European program will originate in Brussels, Belgium, and be shot to Telstar through ground stations at Goonhilly Down, England.

Intercontinental television is impossible at present. Six hundred channels are required for one-way transmission and there are only 550 radio and cable channels now available between this country and overseas points. Telstar will provide 600 channels on an experimental basis.

Moscow Raps, London OKs U.S. Firing of Nuclear Test

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. high-altitude nuclear blast over the Pacific was denounced by the Soviet Union today and criticized and defended in Britain. Watchers in the distant Pacific got a spectacular display of fireworks.

"The crime has been committed," declared Moscow radio. "The U.S.A. exploded its nuclear device in space despite the decisive protests of all mankind—precisely on the day when the World Congress for General Disarmament and Peace began its work in Moscow."

In Auckland, New Zealand, the blast produced 10 minutes of pyrotechnics, and newspapers were flooded with calls from New Zealanders, some curious, others panicky. An intense glow appeared above the northern horizon, spreading across a clear sky to the southern horizon. Then a luminous red band widened, shot through with quivering white shafts of light.

Watchers in the Fiji islands saw a glow of green, blue and yellow in the northeast sky. This turned to orange and crimson as the glow spread to the southwest. Shafts of bright white light in the center of the glow also were reported there.

Fiji is about 2,000 miles southwest of Johnston Island, site of the test, and Auckland about 3,200 miles away. Johnston Island lies a little more than 700 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Communications blackouts were reported in various parts of the Pacific, as scientists had predicted.

In London, where some British scientists have assailed the high-altitude test, Britons were assured the explosion would have no effect on the earth's weather.

"The explosion was too high to disturb anything of meteorological significance," said Dr. R. C. Sutcliffe on the British Meteorology Office's Department of research.

Nuclear Flash Seen over Vast Pacific Area

Megaton-Plus Blast Of Warhead Disrupts Some Communications

HONOLULU (AP)—A powerful hydrogen device exploded 200 miles above the earth and lit the reaches of the Pacific from Hawaii to Australia for six minutes starting at 11 p.m. Sunday night (4 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today).

It marked success on the third try by the United States for the high-altitude test from tiny Johnston Island.

The blast—most powerful of the current test series—was carried aloft to an altitude of about 200 miles by the Thor missile. It took 15 minutes for the rocket to reach firing height.

Communications in many Pacific areas were blanked immediately. Some Honolulu radio stations were washed out by interference, but returned to the air shortly.

The Japanese Overseas Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported trans-Pacific telephone connections with Honolulu, Oakland, Calif., and Buenos Aires were knocked out right after the explosion.

Service was restored a short time later, a company spokesman said.

The Thor was the same type missile that had failed twice before in efforts to explode the big nuclear warhead.

The nuclear warhead was described as in the megaton-plus range — equivalent to more than one million tons of TNT. It was exploded at an altitude of about 200 miles, unofficial sources said.

There were reports that the device may have packed as much power as 10 megatons. Task Force 8 officials would not confirm this.

They declined comment on questions as to whether this was an atomic or a hydrogen bomb. Even if it was only one megaton, the bomb would be 50 times more powerful than the atomic bomb exploded over Hiroshima. That bomb had a blast equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

A task force spokesman, asked if the blast was considered a success, smiled and said, "Certainly."

It was believed the success will raise U.S. prestige in the missile field, after the two successive failures at Johnston Island.

There was no immediate word on whether there will be further tests at the antenna-studded island. Before the shot, it was speculated that the high-altitude series might be curtailed because of the many delays.

A cloud cover over the Hawaiian Islands, 750 miles northeast of Johnston, blocked a view of the fireball. The flash penetrated the cloud banks, lighting the Hawaiian chain in a brilliant glare.

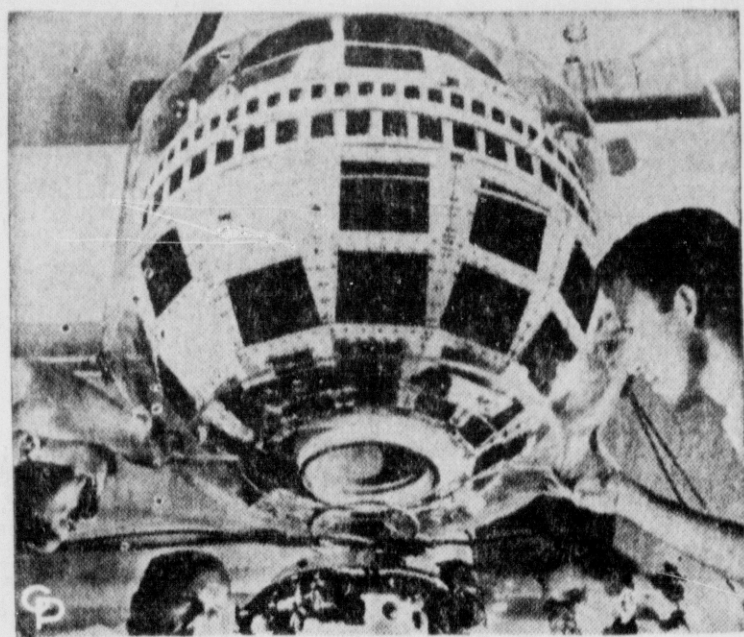

The initial flash was lightning-like, first greenish and fading to blue. The glare was followed by an orange glow which tinted clouds with a halo visible for more than five minutes. Colors ranging from yellow to bright red mingled like a watercolor sunset.

Officials at Joint Task Force 8 headquarters viewing the blast from a hill overlooking Pearl Harbor were elated.

Twenty-five minutes after the

Fourteen O-positive donors are urgently needed for a 13-year-old boy who is to undergo open-heart surgery, officials requested, and special emphasis is being placed on all negative types during tomorrow's visit.

Donors may make appointments today at the chapter offices by calling GR 4-5736. "Wal-ins" will be accepted throughout the day.

Ohio Bonded Debt Is Being Reduced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's bonded debt has dipped below the half-billion-dollar mark with a net reduction of $23.3 million in the last year.

In the postwar years beginning with 1948, the state borrowed $922.5 million to finance World War II and Korean conflict bonuses and highway and state building construction.

Prospects are the World War II bonus bonds will be paid off in about a year. Only slightly more than $17 million worth of the bonds are now outstanding.

42-Year-Old O-Ville Native Fatally Injured

A 42-year-old Columbus woman died at 8:10 p. m. yesterday in St. Anthony Hospital of injuries received in a two-car accident which occurred on East Main St., Columbus, early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Helen Bodoh, a Circleville native, died of internal injuries received when her husband's auto crashed into the rear of a vehicle driven by Richard Holtschulte, 38, Baltimore, O.

Mrs. Bodoh's husband, William, 43; and sons, Paul, 9, and Donald, 7; were released from the hospital after receiving emergency treatment.

The traffic victim was born in Circleville, January 24, 1910, the daughter of Sherman and Ruth May Gregg Binkley.

Surviving, in addition to her husband and two sons, are two brothers, Harold Binkley, 158 Wat St., and James Binkley, Fairview Ave.; and a sister, Mrs. Leslie Garrett, 621 E. Mound St.

Arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Rail Union Chief Details Changes

CLEVELAND (AP)—The head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers told 364 delegates at the opening of the union's 14th triennial convention today that tremendous changes have been wrought in the past six years, many of them harmful to labor.

Roy E. Davidson said in remarks prepared for the convention: "In the past six years we have seen organized labor generally become a target for probes, for investigations and smears, for Madison Avenue campaigns, for restrictions, regulations and laws."

Highlight of the convention, expected to last about five weeks, will be an address Tuesday by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Gold

Brazilian President Asks OK of Premier

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Joao Goulart called on Brazil's Chamber of Deputies today to approve Francisco Brochado da Rocha as prime minister and end the 13-day-old political crisis which caused rioting that killed 11 persons.

Some deputies were said to oppose Rocha, a provincial official in Rio Grande do Sul State where he is a close associate of left-leaning Gov. Leonel Brizola.

It marked Goulart's third attempt to form a new government since Prime Minister Tancredo Neves and his Cabinet resigned June 26 to be eligible under the constitution to run in the October congressional elections.

The crisis has been marked by food riots and a general strike by labor unions demanding a prime minister favorable to their cause.

Nuclear Flash Seen over Vast Pacific Area

Megaton-Plus Blast Of Warhead Disrupts Some Communications

HONOLULU (AP)—A powerful hydrogen device exploded 200 miles above the earth and lit the reaches of the Pacific from Hawaii to Australia for six minutes starting at 11 p. m. Sunday night (4 a. m. Eastern Standard Time today).

It marked success on the third try by the United States for the high-altitude test from tiny Johnston Island.

The blast—most powerful of the current test series—was carried aloft to an altitude of about 200 miles by the Thor missile. It took 15 minutes for the rocket to reach firing height.

Communications in many Pacific areas were blanked immediately. Some Honolulu radio stations were washed out by interference, but returned to the air shortly.

The Japanese Overseas Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported trans-Pacific telephone connections with Honolulu, Oakland, Calif., and Buenos Aires were knocked out right after the explosion.

Service was restored a short time later, a company spokesman said.

The Thor was the same type missile that had failed twice before in efforts to explode the big nuclear warhead.

The nuclear warhead was described as in the megaton-plus range — equivalent to more than one million tons of TNT. It was exploded at an altitude of about 200 miles, unofficial sources said.

There were reports that the device may have packed as much power as 10 megatons. Task Force 8 officials would not confirm this.

They declined comment on questions as to whether this was an atomic or a hydrogen bomb.

Even if it was only one megaton, the bomb would be 50 times more powerful than the atomic bomb exploded over Hiroshima. That bomb had a blast equal to 20,000 tons of TNT.

A task force spokesman, asked if the blast was considered a success, smiled and said, "Certainly."

It was believed the success will raise U.S. prestige in the missile field, after the two successive failures at Johnston Island.

There was no immediate word on whether there will be further tests at the antenna-studded island. Before the shot, it was speculated that the high-altitude series might be curtailed because of the many delays.

A cloud cover over the Hawaiian Islands, 750 miles northeast of Johnston, blocked a view of the fireball. The flash penetrated the cloud banks, lighting the Hawaiian chain in brilliant glare.

The initial flash was lightning-like, first greenish and fading to blue. The glare was followed by an orange glow which tinted clouds with a halo visible for more than five minutes. Colors ranging from yellow to bright red mingled like a watercolor sunset.

Officials at Joint Task Force 8 headquarters viewing the blast from a hill overlooking Pearl Harbor were elated.

Twenty-five minutes after the

Industry Set To Loft 'Moon'

First Communications Satellite To Be Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Telstar, a communications relay satellite which represents private industry's first venture into space, is scheduled to be launched Tuesday.

Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. built the complex satellite, and will pay all costs involved in launching Telstar on a Thor-Delta rocket and tracking its orbital flight. The cost is estimated at $3 million, which Bell is to pay even if the mission fails.

If all goes as planned, television viewers in America and Western Europe will see the first live transatlantic television programs within a week, with signals relayed by Telstar.

The satellite's planned orbit will range from 600 to 3,500 miles above the earth. With its more than 15,000 parts, Telstar weighs 170 pounds.

Andover, Maine, which has sending and receiving capability, and Holmdel, N.J., which will receive only, are the two principal U.S. ground stations.

The three major U.S. television networks are planning a 12-minute news transmission to Europe via Telstar. The European Broadcasting Union, representing 16 countries, will handle a program for beaming to the United States. The European program will originate in Brussels, Belgium, and be shot to Telstar through ground stations at Goonhilly Down, England.

Intercontinental television is impossible at present. Six hundred channels are required for one-way transmission and there are only 550 radio and cable channels now available between this country and overseas points. Telstar will provide 600 channels on an experimental basis.

President's Family Remains at Seaside

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President John F. Kennedy returned to Washington today after a weekend at Cape Cod.

The President's wife and their two children remained in their seaside summer White House to stay until the end of July when Mrs. Kennedy is scheduled to accompany him on a trip to Brazil.

Moscow Raps, London OKs U.S. Firing of Nuclear Test

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. high-altitude nuclear blast over the Pacific was denounced by the Soviet Union today and criticized and defended in Britain. Watchers in the distant Pacific got a spectacular display of fireworks.

"The crime has been committed," declared Moscow radio. "The U.S.A. exploded its nuclear device in space despite the decisive protests of all mankind—precisely on the day when the World Congress for General Disarmament and Peace began its work in Moscow."

In Auckland, New Zealand, the blast produced 10 minutes of pyrotechnics, and newspapers were flooded with calls from New Zealanders, some curious, others panicky.

An intense glow appeared above the northern horizon, spreading across a clear sky to the southern horizon. Then a luminous red band widened, shot through with quivering white shafts of light.

Watchers in the Fiji islands saw a glow of green, blue and yellow in the northeast sky. This turned to orange and crimson as the glow spread to the southwest. Shafts of bright white light in the center of the glow also were reported there.

Fiji is about 2,000 miles southwest of Johnston Island, site of the test, and Auckland lies 3,200 miles away. Johnston Island lies a little more than 700 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Communications blackouts were reported in various parts of the Pacific, as scientists had predicted.

In London, where some British scientists have assailed the high-altitude test, Britons were assured the explosion would have no effect on the earth's weather.

"The explosion was too high to disturb anything of meteorological significance," said Dr. R. C. Sutcliffe of the British Meteorology Office's Department of research.

Fitness Data Alarm Kennedy

Fourth of Children Can't Pass Simple Test

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy, citing "frightening statistics" showing one-fourth of the nation's school children cannot pass a simple physical fitness test, urges all school to require children to take more exercise.

Kennedy, who made the appeal in a statement issued at his Cape Cod summer residence Sunday, reported some encouragement in surveys indicating that more boys and girls were able to pass tests in school with organized fitness program, and that fewer failed after a year of physical education.

"There is strong evidence," Kennedy said, "that the threat to the strength of young America can be overcome. Yet, the shocking fact remains that at least 60 per cent of our children do not participate in a daily program of vigorous physical activity. This conclusively shows how much remains to be done, and this is the critical time of the year."

The President urged that school officials' plans for fall semesters include programs "that contribute to the health and well-being of all our boys and girls."

Kennedy's statement was based on a report submitted by Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma football coach and his consultant on youth fitness.

The report by Wilkinson summarized information obtained through pilot projects in North Dakota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Georgia and Pennsylvania and samplings by government agencies and youth fitness council studies.

Integration Gripes Mostly from North

CLEVELAND (AP) — Only Northerners objected to his decision to integrate Catholic schools in Atlanta, Ga., Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan says, while many Southerners, including civic officials and a number of ministers and rabbis, reacted favorably.

"All the crank letters were from north of the Mason-Dixon line," the former Cleveland archbishop said in an interview Sunday. "Some were unsigned. Some were insulting. One called me a Castro."

Archbishop Hallinan was in Cleveland to preach at Masses and to seek funds to build chapels and schools in the rural areas of his archdiocese, where there are very few Catholics.

Nuclear Flash

flash was seen, the task force issued a terse announcement.

"A nuclear device carried aloft on a Thor booster was detonated at an altitude of hundreds of kilometers over Johnston Island at 11 p. m. HST—5 a. m. EST Monday. Detonation was in the megaton range."

Tourists and residents who had flocked to beaches and hillsides in vain all week appeared pleased with the show. Many stood open-mouthed, others gasped as the flash lit up the sky.

The test was designed to gauge the effects of high-altitude explosions on the earth's magnetic field and the Van Allen radiation belts. Scientists also hope to learn if such blasts could be used to jam tracking radar and thus screen sneak intercontinental missile attacks.

Some scientists have criticized the tests, claiming they could have permanent adverse effects on the Van Allen radiation belts surrounding the earth. U.S. atomic experts say the Van Allen disturbance should be only temporary.

The blast was expected to knock a hole in the ionosphere—a belt of space particles which reflect radio signals. The reports from Japan and other areas indicated it did this, disrupting communications. Some areas are expected to be blanketed for as long as 32 hours by aftereffects.

Aircraft, flying Pacific routes are using emergency communications and will fly within visual range of each other.

First Drive-in Church Service Is Successful

Circleville's first drive-in church service Sunday has been labeled a success.

Officials of Circleville First Methodist Church, which sponsored the worship service in Starlight Cruise-in Theater, said attendance was above expectations.

A total of 105 automobiles was counted at the open air service. They contained nearly 300 persons. Attendance at the church's second worship service, held in the sanctuary at Main and Pickaway Sts., was reported to be slightly below average. But the over-all figure was above average.

The drive-in services will be continued through July and August.

Per Capita Debt In Pickaway County Is Listed

Based upon Pickaway county's population of 35,855 and the overall debt of this county totaling $3,365,061, the per capita debt in the county was $149.63, according to tabulations just completed by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The per capita local government debt in Ohio ranged from a high of $392.89 in Hamilton County to a low of $34.76 in Morgan County at the end of 1961.

As of the close of the fiscal year, June 30, the state's outstanding debt amounted to $497,200,000, which was $51.22 per person for each of the 9,706,397 citizens. The previous year, the debt of $520,544,000 meant a per capita debt of $53.63.

In addition, the national debt stands at approximately $299 billion which, based upon the 1960 population of 180 million, means a per capita national debt of about $1660 per person.

Wall Street Seen Convalescing Now

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-week stock market advance, including a rebound above a previous recovery peak, was interpreted this week as a sign of convalescence in Wall Street.

Not since the market began to skid sharply in April has an advance been able to top a prior rise. The previous pattern was a steeply lower zig-zag with the few rebounds always lower than the ones that preceded.

In what was regarded as a significant step, the Dow Jones industrial average on Thursday advanced to 583.87, putting it above the June 15 rally top of 578.18. With that rise, the Dow industrials had a string of six straight daily advances, although the first of these was accomplished despite the fact that more stocks declined than rose in the overall list.

To the surprise of no one, profit taking took over on Friday and the market declined, but not enough to spoil a substantial gain for the week.

For the week just ended, the Dow industrials closed with a net gain of 14.89 at 576.17.

At its Thursday top, the indicator had recovered roughly one quarter of the 199.15 points it lost since the historic high of 734.91 reached last Dec. 13.

Market theorists now look for a "test" of the June 26 closing low of 535.76 in the Dow, to see if stocks can hold above it. If the test is successful they anticipate another recovery drive, this time to see if the Dow can surpass the level of 600-610.

General opinion in Wall Street this week was that the market's technical factors — the number of buyers or sellers at the various ranges of stock prices, represented roughly by the significant levels in the Dow average.

There was some response to news, however. Gold mining stocks enjoyed a brief rally in response to news that the price of gold bullion in London had advanced again. The savings and loan holding companies also had a spurt to the upside. This was prompted by news that the administration's tax bill — which would stiffen taxes on these thrift institutions — had apparently been sidetracked in favor of the trade bill.

Lima Hospital Revolt Quelled After 3 Hours

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—It was normal again today at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane where a three-hour rebellion involving 62 patients of the institution's maximum security ward flared up Saturday night.

The disturbance arose from apparent general dissatisfaction among the patients. Five attendants were held in the building at the onset of the rebellion. One was hit on the head during a struggle and another was released by the patients.

Four were locked in a room with 22 other patients in the ward and remained there until the demonstration was broken up by a Roman Catholic chaplain and security force guards.

Officials said several chairs which the patients ripped apart to use as weapons were the only things damaged. No fire - arms gas shell was fired.

About three hours after the riot began, the Rev. Raymond Bonner talked the patients into opening a door. He and other guards went in and, after a brief scuffle, quelled the rebellion.

Officials said only about 20 of the 62 patients in the ward apparently took an active part in the demonstration.

Clamor for Income Tax Cuts Growing Louder

NEW YORK (AP) — Clamor over the question of an immediate income tax cut to aid business is growing louder.

President Kennedy told his news conference that his administration is seriously considering requests by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for a reduction now.

But for the time being Kennedy stood pat on his previously announced intention of asking Congress to reduce taxes, effective next January.

He said he was watching the economic indicators and that if they seem to reflect the need for a quicker cut he will recommend it.

Three governors — Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican, Michael V. DeSalle of Ohio and Edmund G. Brown of California, Democrats — joined in the plea for lower taxes.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., reiterated his demand for early action on taxes.

The proposals ran into opposition from Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman, and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican member, of the Senate Finance Committee.

The stock market continued its recovery and some Wall Street experts saw a good chance of a sustained rally during the summer. Others, however, maintained a cautious attitude because of uncertainty of the business outlook. Stock sales during the holiday shortened four-day week amounted to 13,820,190 shares, compared with 25,774,760 the previous week and 11,964,700 the comparable week of last year.

Bond sales totaled $24,749,000 par value, compared with $46,056,000 the previous week and $26,799,000 the comparable 1961 week.

The First National Bank of Chicago, in its semiannual poll of Midwest leaders of commerce and industry, found expectations of improved business during the second half of this year in the rubber and automotive products, merchandising, food, farm equipment, oil and appliance industries.

The steel industry is expected to remain at its slow pace. Representatives of the construction, rail and paper industries were pessimistic.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that consumers increased installment credit debt by $413 million in May, about $100 million less than April. A moderate decline in the signing of new installment contracts for consumer goods was noted.

Total inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May showed the smallest increase in nine months, the Commerce Department announced. Inventories were estimated at $97.4 billion, up $170 million from April.

The department said total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May were estimated at $66.4 billion, a gain of less than one per cent from April.

Dairy Plant Explosion Injures Pair in Auto

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two persons in a car were injured Sunday when an explosion damaged Paul's Dairy in Nearby Minford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Burns, both 59, of Stockdale were hurt slightly when their car struck a boiler which had just landed in the street outside the one-story building.

Three employees in the building were not hurt.

The owner of the dairy, Paul Poole, said the explosion, which caused an estimated $30,000 damage, apparently was caused by a malfunction in the boiler. A small fire broke out following the blast but was extinguished quickly.

Actors, Sears Teaming Up To Bring Art To Masses

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Workers on the seventh floor of the big Sears, Roebuck store in east Los Angeles are surprised to find Vincent Price as a fellow employee.

He's there almost every day, poring over the beginnings of what he says could be "the greatest sale of art in history."

Price's enthusiasm for art knows no bounds, and he might be excused for his zeal, except that he could be right.

He is collecting, framing and labeling paintings of the Vincent Price collection, which will go on sale in 10 Sears stores throughout the nation in a couple of months. If this move to bring art to the masses catches fire, the sale would eventually be extended to 400 stores, he said.

"The possibilities are staggering," he declared. "This could be the biggest thing that ever happened to art."

There won't be any offered in Sears mail order catalogue, though, he said, because of the enormous volume.

Through his television appearances, lectures and books, the actor has become the country's top promoter of art appreciation. Hence it was only natural that Sears would come to him when embarking on its culture kick.

"I must say I was surprised and delighted," he remarked. "The reasoning seemed to be that this was the ultimate in home furnishing, which is the company's biggest field. Also, the art would attract a different kind of customer that wouldn't ordinarily visit Sears."

"I started in mid-May and I've been in a whirl ever since. Already I've bought 1,700 paintings and etchings; I've got to have 2,500 before the sale starts."

"Prices will run from $15 to $3,000, with most under $500, and the majority of those under $300. All will be framed with a description that can be pasted on the back. Each of the first exhibits will be comprised of 75 works. As with any Sears merchandise, the buyer can have it right away. Hence I need a lot of replacements for each exhibit."

The initial sales will be in Denver, Huntington, N. Y., Oklahoma, Wis., Charlotte, N.C., and these California cities: Sacramento, Buena Park, Pasadena and San Diego.

"The idea is not to compete with galleries in the big cities," said Price, "and we will probably not undersell them. This is a program to bring art to areas where it is not otherwise available."

Besides the galleries, Price has canvassed 20 of the big universities for works of student artists and picked up wholesale lots at UCLA and Santa Barbara State. He said he plans to extend his search to all major art schools and perhaps even commission greats like Picasso and Braque to create lithographs for special limited editions.

No anti-abstractism — the orrammed walls of his own home are riotous with color — Price nevertheless is soft-pedaling the wider works.

His reasoning: "I think too many fine craftsmen have been overlooked in the melee for abstractionism. Besides, the best abstractionists are beyond my budget. I'd love to have a Jackson Pollack in the collection, but they run from $6,000 up to $30,000."

Sterilization Orders by Judge Debated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Court Judge Holland M. Gary of Zanesville, who ordered two feeble-minded girls sterilized, claimed Sunday he had the legal right to do so. He also urged a new state law to broaden the power.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman of Cleveland, however, denied there was any legal authority in Ohio for Judge Gary's order and said it was "fraught with problems."

Julian Renswick, attorney and member of the Civil Liberties Union, warned that in the absence of specific law it was possible some judge in the future might extend sterilization to other groups.

The three made their comments in a discussion of the sterilization operations which took place last March. The talk was broadcast on WJW-TV's "Cleveland Caucus."

Gary said he favors a law to prevent births among the feeble-minded "because the procedure I used was very limited — you must first find that the person is feeble-minded and then that no space is available for them in the institution before you can issue the (sterilization) order."

He said broadening the law would be a great help to those already in institutions who could have such operations and be allowed to return home. "It is an alternative to being in an institution," he said. "They can be out where they can have a fairly normal life."

Experiments in Malaya indicate that rubber wood, mixed with bamboo and lalang grass, may form the basis of a paper industry.

HOPE BRAZIL JUST LIKE MEXICO—President Kennedy's aides are hoping the Mexican reception for him and his vivacious wife, Jacqueline, (top, in Mexico City) will be repeated in Brazil when he makes a goodwill visit there at the end of July. Mexico had been reported fraught with anti-Americanism, but Mr. Kennedy never has, even in the U.S., been welcomed so warmly by so many people. (Central Press)

New Auto Sales Near Record Pace

DETROIT (AP)—New car sales for the first six months of this year came within a few percentage points of the 1955 boom year pace despite a Ford production stoppage last month.

This was the gist of reports released Friday by major auto Report.

June sales continued strong even though a strike in Ohio resulted in a shutdown of Ford car assembly for a week.

January-June figures showed 3,446,563 cars sold compared with 3,519,629 for the first six months of the all-time record selling year, 1955.

Realistic Centennial

MEMPHIS (AP) — In observing the centennial of the Civil War battle of Memphis, a focal newspaper carried first-hand accounts of the famous event. Apparently they were a little too vivid for one youngster.

After reading one particularly exciting edition, the frightened boy ran to awaken his mother, waving the paper and clearly prepared to run for the hills.

"Mommy," he yelled, "are the Yankees really coming?"

cator had recovered roughly one quarter of the 199.15 points it lost since the historic high of 734.91 reached last Dec. 13.

Market theorists now look for a "test" of the June 26 closing low of 535.76 in the Dow, to see if stocks can hold above it. If the test is successful they anticipate another recovery drive, this time to see if the Dow can surpass the level of 600-610.

General opinion in Wall Street this week was that the market's technical factors — the number of buyers or sellers at the various ranges of stock prices, represented roughly by the significant levels in the Dow average.

There was some response to news, however. Gold mining stocks enjoyed a brief rally in response to news that the price of gold bullion in London had advanced again. The savings and loan holding companies also had a spurt to the upside. This was prompted by news that the administration's tax bill — which would stiffen taxes on these thrift institutions — had apparently been sidetracked in favor of the trade bill.

Actors, Sears Teaming Up To Bring Art To Masses

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Workers on the seventh floor of the big Sears, Roebuck store in east Los Angeles are surprised to find Vincent Price as a fellow employee.

He's there almost every day, poring over the beginnings of what he says could be "the greatest sale of art in history."

Price's enthusiasm for art knows no bounds, and he might be excused for his zeal, except that he could be right.

He is collecting, framing and labeling paintings of the Vincent Price collection, which will go on sale in 10 Sears stores throughout the nation in a couple of months. If this move to bring art to the masses catches fire, the sale would eventually be extended to 400 stores, he said.

"The possibilities are staggering," he declared. "This could be the biggest thing that ever happened to art."

There won't be any offered in Sears mail order catalogue, though, he said, because of the enormous volume.

Through his television appearances, lectures and books, the actor has become the country's top promoter of art appreciation. Hence it was only natural that Sears would come to him when embarking on its culture kick.

New Auto Sales Near Record Pace

DETROIT (AP)—New car sales for the first six months of this year came within a few percentage points of the 1955 boom year pace despite a Ford production stoppage last month.

This was the gist of reports released Friday by major auto Report.

June sales continued strong even though a strike in Ohio resulted in a shutdown of Ford car assembly for a week.

January-June figures showed 3,446,563 cars sold compared with 3,519,629 for the first six months of the all-time record selling year, 1955.

"I must say I was surprised and delighted," he remarked. "The reasoning seemed to be that this was the ultimate in home furnishing, which is the company's biggest field. Also, the art would attract a different kind of customer that wouldn't ordinarily visit Sears."

"I started in mid-May and I've been in a whirl ever since. Already I've bought 1,700 paintings and etchings; I've got to have 2,500 before the sale starts."

"Prices will run from $15 to $3,000, with most under $500, and the majority of those under $300. All will be framed with a description that can be pasted on the back. Each of the first exhibits will be comprised of 75 works. As with any Sears merchandise, the buyer can have it right away. Hence I need a lot of replacements for each exhibit."

The initial sales will be in Denver, Huntington, N. Y., Oklahoma, Wis., Charlotte, N.C., and these California cities: Sacramento, Buena Park, Pasadena and San Diego.

"The idea is not to compete with galleries in the big cities," said Price, "and we will probably not undersell them. This is a program to bring art to areas where it is not otherwise available."

Besides the galleries, Price has canvassed 20 of the big universities for works of student artists and picked up wholesale lots at UCLA and Santa Barbara State. He said he plans to extend his search to all major art schools and perhaps even commission greats like Picasso and Braque to create lithographs for special limited editions.

No anti-abstractism — the orrammed walls of his own home are riotous with color — Price nevertheless is soft-pedaling the wilder works.

His reasoning: "I think too many fine craftsmen have been overlooked in the melee for abstractionism. Besides, the best abstractionists are beyond my budget. I'd love to have a Jackson Pollack in the collection, but they run from $6,000 up to $30,000."

Lima Hospital Revolt Quelled After 3 Hours

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—It was normal again today at the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane where a three-hour rebellion involving 62 patients of the institution's maximum security ward flared up Saturday night.

The disturbance arose from apparent general dissatisfaction among the patients. Five attendant-guards were held in the building at the onset of the rebellion. One was hit on the head during a struggle and another was released by the patients.

Four were locked in a room with 22 other patients in the ward and remained there until the demonstration was broken up by a Roman Catholic chaplain and security force guards.

Officials said several chairs which the patients ripped apart to use as weapons were the only things damaged. No fire — arms gas shell was fired.

About three hours after the riot began, the Rev. Raymond Borer talked the patients into opening a door. He and other guards went in and, after a brief scuffle, quelled the rebellion.

Officials said only about 20 of the 62 patients in the ward apparently took an active part in the demonstration.

Realistic Centennial

MEMPHIS (AP) — In observing the centennial of the Civil War battle of Memphis, a local newspaper carried first-hand accounts of the famous event. Apparently they were a little too vivid for one youngster.

After reading one particularly exciting edition, the frightened boy ran to awaken his mother, waving the paper and clearly prepared to run for the hills.

"Mommy," he yelled, "are the Yankees really coming?"

Clamor for Income Tax Cuts Growing Louder

NEW YORK (AP) — Clamor over the question of an immediate income tax cut to aid business is growing louder.

President Kennedy told his news conference that his administration is seriously considering requests by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for a reduction now.

But for the time being Kennedy stood pat on his previously announced intention of asking Congress to reduce taxes, effective next January.

He said he was watching the economic indicators and that if they seem to reflect the need for a quicker cut he will recommend a reduction now.

Three governors — Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican, Michael V. DeSalle of Ohio and Edmund G. Brown of California, Democrats — joined in the plea for lower taxes.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., reiterated his demand for early action on taxes.

The proposals ran into opposition from Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman, and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican member, of the Senate Finance Committee.

The stock market continued its recovery and some Wall Street experts saw a good chance of a sustained rally during the summer. Others, however, maintained a cautious attitude because of uncertainty of the business outlook. Stock sales during the holiday shortened four-day week amounted to 13,820,190 shares, compared with 25,774,760 the previous week and 11,964,700 the comparable week of last year.

Bond sales totaled $24,749,000 par value, compared with $46,056,000 the previous week and $26,799,000 the comparable 1961 week.

The First National Bank of Chicago, in its semiannual poll of Midwest leaders of commerce and industry, found expectations of improved business during the second half of this year in the rubber and automotive products, merchandising, food, farm equipment, oil and appliance industries.

The steel industry is expected to remain at its slow pace. Representatives of the construction, rail and paper industries were pessimistic.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that consumers increased installment credit debt by $413 million in May, about $100 million less than April. A moderate decline in the signing of new installment contracts for consumer goods was noted.

Total inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May showed the smallest increase in nine months, the Commerce Department announced. Inventories were estimated at $97.4 billion, up $170 million from April.

The department said total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May were estimated at $66.4 billion, a gain of less than one per cent from April.

Dairy Plant Explosion Injures Pair in Auto

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Two persons in a car were injured Sunday when an explosion damaged Paul's Dairy in Nearby Minford.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Burns, both 59, of Stockdale were hurt slightly when their car struck a boiler which had just landed in the street outside the one-story building.

Three employees in the building were not hurt.

The owner of the dairy, Paul Poole, said the explosion, which caused an estimated $30,000 damage, apparently was caused by a malfunction in the boiler. A small fire broke out following the blast but was extinguished quickly.

HOPE BRAZIL JUST LIKE MEXICO—President Kennedy's aides are hoping the Mexican reception for him and his vivacious wife, Jacqueline, (top, in Mexico City) will be repeated in Brazil when he makes a goodwill visit there at the end of July. Mexico had been reported fraught with anti-Americanism, but Mr. Kennedy never has, even in the U.S., been welcomed so warmly by so many people. (Central Press)

Sterilization Orders by Judge Debated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Probate Court Judge Holland M. Gary of Zanesville, who ordered two feeble-minded girls sterilized, claimed Sunday he had the legal right to do so. He also urged a new state law to broaden the power.

Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Wolman of Cleveland, however, denied there was any legal authority in Ohio for Judge Gary's order and said it was "fraught with problems."

Julian Renswick, attorney and member of the Civil Liberties Union, warned that in the absence of specific law it was possible some judge in the future might extend sterilization to other groups.

The three made their comments in a discussion of the sterilization operations which took place last March. The talk was broadcast on WJW-TV's "Cleveland Caucus."

Gary said he favors a law to prevent births among the feeble-minded "because the procedure I used was very limited — you must first find that the person is feeble-minded and then that no space is available for them in the institution before you can issue the (sterilization) order."

He said broadening the law would be a great help to those already in institutions who could have such operations and be allowed to return home. "It is an alternative to being in an institution," he said. "They can be out where they can have a fairly normal life."

Experiments in Malaya indicate that rubber wood, mixed with bamboo and lalang grass, may form the basis of a paper industry.

Army Needs 5,000 Men in September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five thousand men will be drafted in September for the Army.

The Defense Department asked Selective Service today to provide that many men. The number is the same as for July and August.

The Defense Department said the aim is to enroll 16,300 enlisted men in the Army in September, with about one-third coming from the draft.

As is usually the case, the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to draw on the draft in September.

Bypassing Congress

A school of officials exists in the executive branch of the federal government which feeds on the ability to find other ways of fulfilling its desires when Congress rejects its requests. Sometimes referred to as back door financing, the plan usually goes something like this:

If Congress refuses an appropriation for a favored project, let's find a way of doing it without congressional approval, but with federal funds of course.

One of the projects currently underway is a steam-powered electric generating plant in Washington state using the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford, Wash., plutonium reactor to produce the steam. Three times last year Congress was asked to authorize $95 million to build a plant, and three times the answer was no.

Congress refused the request on various grounds, but notably because the power plant would infringe on an area served by private companies and because it is not considered economical or efficient to use the low-pressure steam generated by the reactor to turn modern turbines.

Three times refused in one year should have a ring of finality to it, but the administration may yet get its electric plant. How? The plan is to establish a Washington Public Power Supply System, composed of the public utility districts in the state. Bonds would be issued by the system to finance the electric plant, backed by the Bonneville Power Administration, another federal agency.

Any losses incurred by the electric plant would be assumed by Bonneville, which already generates a deficit of $13 million annually. At any time in the future, Bonneville could become owner of the plant by paying off the bonds. Nothing to it, really.

The idea of one government agency floating bonds to erect another is intriguing.

Seat Belts Save Lives

Seat belts have been receiving much credit recently for saving lives of automobile passengers who have been involved in serious accidents.

Seat belts are eyesores, admittedly, and they do limit movement (which, of course, is their main purpose), but it is not because of these facts that they aren't used more often by the motoring public. The trouble is that most drivers are too conceited to believe that they could possibly become involved in an accident.

Statistics prove otherwise. They prove that even excellent drivers can get into trouble on the road, and they also prove that seat belts save many accident victims from death or serious injury.

Family Togetherness Tested

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the sterner tests of the principle of family togetherness is a child's demand for a weekly allowance.

Looking back now, it seems the first thing my daughter, Tracy Ann, did after we planned her first diaper on, was to stretch out a pudgy small hand and demand: "Where's my allowance?"

Ever since then I've been a miser at bay.

For a while I thought it was kind of cute to hold out a nickel and a dime in my hand, and watch her pick the nickel because it was bigger.

But her favorite playmates are Susie and Markie, the children of Mark Stumpf, attorney who lives down the hall, and the time came when I suspect Tracy got the benefit of counsel.

First she learned to choose the dime from the nickel, then the time came when she peeled off both coins.

Then I made the error of telling her that when I once demanded a weekly allowance of a quarter from my father, he told me: "Sure, son, here's the broom. Sweep out the store."

My daughter thought that over for about two swift seconds.

"I know where the broom is, Papa," she replied. "But what did you do with your daddy's store?"

Reluctantly I had to fork over the two-bits. Over the years the demands have steadily grown. Now and then I raise a feeble flag of resistance, but get nowhere.

When Tracy was 7, the allowance level soared to 50 cents a week, 10 per cent of which she agreed to plunk into the piggy bank.

Tracy is now 9 years old. Recently she decided to raise her weekly allowance to a dollar, of which she agreed to bank 35 cents. I made a small scream and a long speech, then caved in, borrowed the money from my wife, and paid the allowance.

As my wealthy daughter trudged down the hall I heard one of her playmates ask her: "Gee, who did you get it from—the big shot?"

"Yes," answered Tracy. "From Mommy."

My friends who have older children have small sympathy for my hollers.

"When kids get to be teen-agers, they think nothing of asking for $5 a clip," they say. "Just you wait."

Well, I'm in no hurry. I can wait.

My idea now is to hold out until I get Social Security from Uncle Sam—and then split my allowance 50-50 with my daughter.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Both U.S. exports and imports have been rising this year to gladden those who preach that increased trade among nations is one of the best ways to solve the world's problems.

But imports into the United States have been rising fast while the increase in exports from it has been slowing down—to the disappointment of those who hope that a faster trade balance would support the outlay of dollars for other U.S. activities and policies abroad.

The Census Bureau reports that in the first five months of 1962 exports were running at an annual rate of $20.91 billion, some 5 per cent ahead of the like 1961 period. But imports were up 17 per cent to $16.15 billion a year.

The trade surplus of $4.76 billion compares with $5 billion for all of 1961.

The figures mean this: Last year's surplus wasn't enough to prevent a loss of gold by the United States and the balance this year isn't as big. The trend this year has been to raise imports rather than exports. And U.S. exports to still-booming Europe have not increased as many expected.

A drive to increase exports had been proclaimed to help eliminate the deficit in international payments that has plagued the United States in recent years. Last year's deficit was $2.5 billion. This year the deficit has been cut, but it still isn't erased.

The deficit arises because other spending of dollars abroad—for foreign aid, military forces and bases, travel, investment—more than wipes out the $4 or $5 billion surplus of exports over imports. And when these annual deficits pile up enough dollars overseas, some of them are turned in for U.S. Treasury gold—and the dollar has periods of weakness on the foreign exchange markets.

There has been no outflow of gold for the last seven weeks, but the total is $1.1 billion less than a year ago.

The rise in imports this year can be traced to two trends:

1. Industrial production has been higher than a year ago and U.S. businessmen have been buying more materials;

2. American personal incomes have been higher and there has been an increased market here for imported goods—for a number of reasons, ranging from lower prices through quality and uniqueness to snob appeal.

If exports haven't soared as hoped, they are still high. Part of this is the movement of government-owned farm surpluses, but most of it is goods that a more prosperous outside world has wanted.

Industrialization—first of war-torn Europe, and now of newly emerging nations—has taken and is taking much of America's output of machinery, aircraft and technical equipment. Higher personal incomes abroad have furnished markets for the consumer goods that Americans excel in making.

But this year total exports to Europe haven't been increasing, whereas in former years they increased faster than our exports in general.

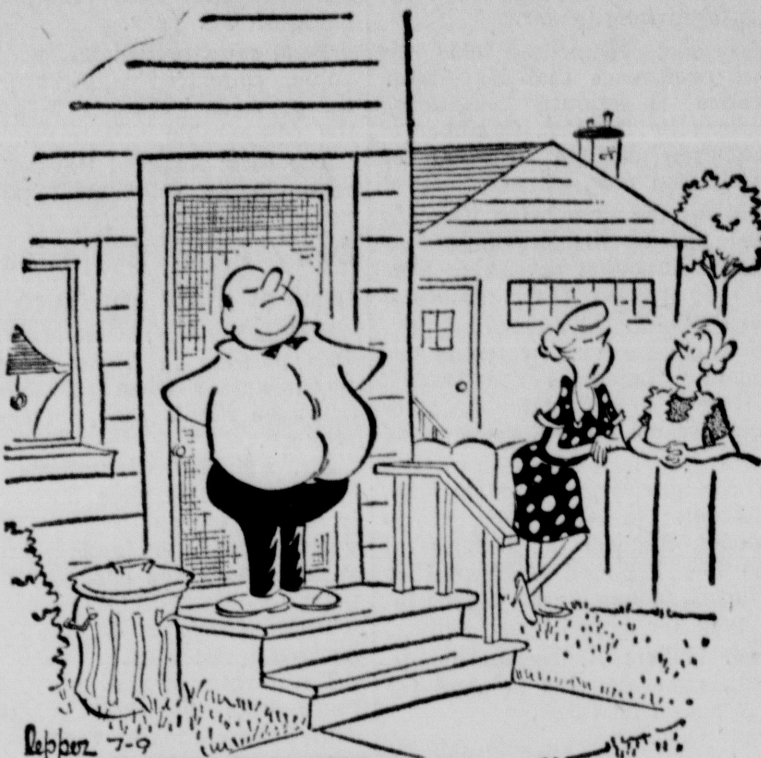

The trouble with our export-import situation is like that of most of our other problems—the situation is really fairly good; it just isn't good enough.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Miscarriages destroy more life than any single killer!

You may have had some. Miscarriages are often mistaken for menstrual periods a week or so late.

Experts know that one in ten fertilized eggs never survives, but they can't estimate how many millions of miscarriages go unrecognized.

Most early miscarriages, during the first three months, stem from defective egg or sperm-cells. They're really blessings. With only a little bleeding, nature prevents millions of abnormal babies.

No doctor or medicine can save these imperfect cells. Bleeding may stop and the threat may pass, but not because of any treatment!

Correcting sluggish thyroid function may prevent future trouble. Tests can tell. And you can try for another baby right away.

A lax womb or hormone-lack brings on most miscarriages after the third month.

Mild pressure, watery discharge and some spotting often signal trouble.

Afterwards, give nature six months to complete housecleaning.

One miscarriage doesn't lower your chances for a healthy baby. But three drop the odds to 50-50.

And so your doctor may prescribe progesterone — like hormones, which normally readies womb lining towards the end of each menstrual month. On the other hand, he may not; progesterone may have serious side effects. Surgery can strengthen the lax open womb.

Before Baby begins, the surgeon may trim away defects keeping the womb open. During the third expectant month he may weave a heavy thread in and out around the womb opening, pull tight and tie it closed. At the right time he cuts the string and Baby arrives.

Almost every grandmother has a cure for repeated miscarriages. Most of these remedies work through the mind.

When couples discover how common their problem is, fear, guilt and anxiety vanish. And one in four go on to have a baby!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

What Is the Compulsion?

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Fred Schwarz, on the stationery of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, writes:

"We had anticipated problems and difficulties in New York City, but we did not really understand the magnitude of the obstacles that would confront us. These had to be experienced to be believed. New York was a city of bigotry, boycott and fear. In this city it was considered in many quarters un-American to be an unashamed Christian. If a businessman dared to stand with us, he was faced with the threat of economic boycott and financial strangulation. Many who agreed wholeheartedly with our methods and ministry were immobilized by fear of economic and social ostracism."

I do not quite understand why it is "bigotry, boycott and fear" not to follow the hehests of Dr. Fred Schwarz. What is the compulsion to follow his leadership or to attend his meetings? Those who want to go are free to go; those who want to stay away are free to stay away. Is this bigotry?

On the night of his Madison Square Garden meeting, only 8,000 attended, which is a small audience. Some left during the speeches because they found them dull and uninspired; others stayed because they found them interesting and exciting.

The only new face among the speakers was Pat Boone, whose ancestor was Daniel Boone. Pat Boone's greatest contribution to the cause of anti-Communism was his promise to blow up his four daughters if the Communists captured them. Of course, no man would really kill his own daughters, not even a descendant of the doughty Daniel Boone. We must therefore accept his statement as an hyperbole, intended to shock.

When someone on the platform spoke about Lenin meeting Hitler a friend telephoned me to inquire whether that was possible. I said that he must have heard wrong. He swore that that was what a speaker said. I still believed that it must have been a slip of the tongue. The dates are wrong. No! Virginia, I never met George Washington. He was no longer around when I was born!

The time for this kind of talk has long since passed. The existence of Marxism in this world is a question of war. Soviet Russia is the Marxist enemy and unless we can fight and destroy Soviet Russia, it will fight and destroy us. As a matter of fact, this battle has been continuous since 1948. Soviet Russia's major recent victory was the conquest of Cuba, because that gave Russia a base 90 miles from the coast of the United States.

While these Schwarzites were busying themselves with the same speeches we all made in the 1930's, the Russian spy, Soblen, escaped from this country. Undoubtedly, this can ultimately lead to another exposure of Soviet espionage, for it is absolutely clear that Soblen could not have made such a smooth escape without assistance. The New York officials of the Federal government ought to be held responsible for Soblen's escape. He was free in $100,000 bail but jumped it. How does it happen that a spy is freed in so little bail? What civil liberties question was involved to justify putting up the bail on the ground of civil liberties?

I make this point because public officials, like private orators, have not yet adjusted their minds to the warlike character of the present phase of our relations with Soviet Russia. Every Communist must be regarded as a hateful agent of Soviet Russia, but there are more spies than there are Communists. The espionage network in this country ought to be brought to the surface and spies should be imprisoned.

This has nothing to do with fear. It has nothing to do with common sense. It has nothing to do with boycott, although I am sure that boycott is a most wholesome response to public activities. For instance I boycott Polish hams. We in the United States, produce all the hams we require. I have no intention of buying the goods of anybody whom I dislike. There are other goods to buy.

It has now become established by law that to call a man a Communist, unless he admits, it, is libelous. That is a misunderstanding of Communism. It is all right to refer to a man as a Republican, a Democrat, a Nazi, or even an S.O.B. Well, don't call him anything — just boycott him.

If Congress refuses an appropriation for a favored project, let's find a way of doing it without congressional approval, but with federal funds of course.

One of the projects currently underway is a steam-powered electric generating plant in Washington state using the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford, Wash., plutonium reactor to produce the steam. Three times last year Congress was asked to authorize $95 million to build a plant, and three times the answer was no.

Congress refused the request on various grounds, but notably because the power plant would infringe on an area served by private companies and because it is not considered economical or efficient to use the low-pressure steam generated by the reactor to turn modern turbines.

Three times refused in one year should have a ring of finality to it, but the administration may yet get its electric plant. How? The plan is to establish a Washington Public Power Supply System, composed of the public utility districts in the state. Bonds would be issued by the system to finance the electric plant, backed by the Bonneville Power Administration, another federal agency.

Any losses incurred by the electric plant would be assumed by Bonneville, which already generates a deficit of $13 million annually. At any time in the future, Bonneville could become owner of the plant by paying off the bonds. Nothing to it, really. The idea of one government agency floating bonds to erect another is intriguing.

Seat Belts Save Lives

Seat belts have been receiving much credit recently for saving lives of automobile passengers who have been involved in serious accidents.

Seat belts are eyesores, admittedly, and they do limit movement (which, of course, is their main purpose), but it is not because of these facts that they aren't used more often by the motoring public. The trouble is that most drivers are too conceited to believe that they could possibly become involved in an accident.

Statistics prove otherwise. They prove that even excellent drivers can get into trouble on the road, and they also prove that seat belts save many accident victims from death or serious injury.

Family Togetherness Tested

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the sterner tests of the principle of family togetherness is a child's demand for a weekly allowance.

Looking back now, it seems the first thing my daughter, Tracy Ann, did after we pinned her first diaper on, was to stretch out a pudgy small hand and demand: "Where's my allowance?"

Ever since then I've been a miser at bay.

For a while I thought it was kind of cute to hold out a nickel and a dime in my hand, and watch her pick the nickel because it was bigger.

But her favorite playmates are Susie and Markie, the children of Mark Stumpf, attorney who lives down the hall, and the time came when I suspect Tracy got the benefit of counsel.

First she learned to choose the dime from the nickel, then the time came when she peeled off both coins.

Then I made the error of telling her that when I once demanded a weekly allowance of a quarter from my father, he told me: "Sure, son, here's the broom. Sweep out the store."

My daughter thought that over for about two swift seconds.

"I know where the broom is, Papa," she replied. "But what did you do with your daddy's store?"

Reluctantly I had to fork over the two-bits. Over the years the demands have steadily grown. Now and then I raise a feeble flag of resistance, but get nowhere.

When Tracy was 7, the allowance level soared to 50 cents a week, 10 per cent of which she agreed to plunk into the piggy bank.

Tracy is now 9 years old. Recently she decided to raise her weekly allowance to a dollar, of which she agreed to bank 35 cents. I made a small scream and a long speech, then caved in, borrowed the money from my wife, and paid the allowance.

As my wealthy daughter trudged down the hall I heard one of her playmates ask her: "Gee, who did you get it from—the big shot?"

"Yes," answered Tracy. "From Mommy."

My friends who have older children have small sympathy for my hollers.

"When kids get to be teenagers, they think nothing of asking for $5 a clip," they say. "Just you wait."

Well, I'm in no hurry. I can wait. My idea now is to hold out until I get Social Security from Uncle Sam—and then split my allowance 50-50 with my daughter.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Both U.S. exports and imports have been rising this year to gladden those who preach that increased trade among nations is one of the best ways to solve the world's problems.

But imports into the United States have been rising fast while the increase in exports from it has been slowing down—to the disappointment of those who hope that a fatter trade balance would support the outlay of dollars for other U.S. activities and policies abroad.

The Census Bureau reports that in the first five months of 1962 exports were running at an annual rate of $20.91 billion, some 5 per cent ahead of the like 1961 period. But imports were up 17 per cent to $16.15 billion a year.

The trade surplus of $4.76 billion compares with $5 billion for all of 1961.

The figures mean this: Last year's surplus wasn't enough to prevent a loss of gold by the United States and the balance this year isn't as big. The trend this year has been to raise imports rather than exports. And U.S. exports to still-booming Europe have not increased as many expected.

A drive to increase exports had been proclaimed to help eliminate the deficit in international payments that has plagued the United States in recent years. Last year's deficit was $2.5 billion. This year the deficit has been cut, but it still isn't erased.

The deficit arises because other spending of dollars abroad—for foreign aid, military forces and bases, travel, investment—more than wipes out the $4 or $5 billion surplus of exports over imports. And when these annual deficits pile up enough dollars overseas, some of them are turned in for U.S. Treasury gold—and the dollar has periods of weakness on the foreign exchange markets.

There has been no outflow of gold for the last seven weeks, but the total is $1.1 billion less than a year ago.

The rise in imports this year can be traced to two trends: 1. Industrial production has been higher than a year ago and U.S. businessmen have been buying more materials; 2. American personal incomes have been higher and there has been an increased market here for imported goods—for a number of reasons, ranging from lower prices through quality and uniqueness to snob appeal.

If exports haven't soared as hoped, they are still high. Part of this is the movement of government-owned farm surpluses, but most of it is goods that a more prosperous outside world has wanted.

Industrialization—first of war-torn Europe, and now of newly emerging nations—has taken and is taking much of America's output of machinery, aircraft and technical equipment. Higher personal incomes abroad have furnished markets for the consumer goods that Americans excel in making.

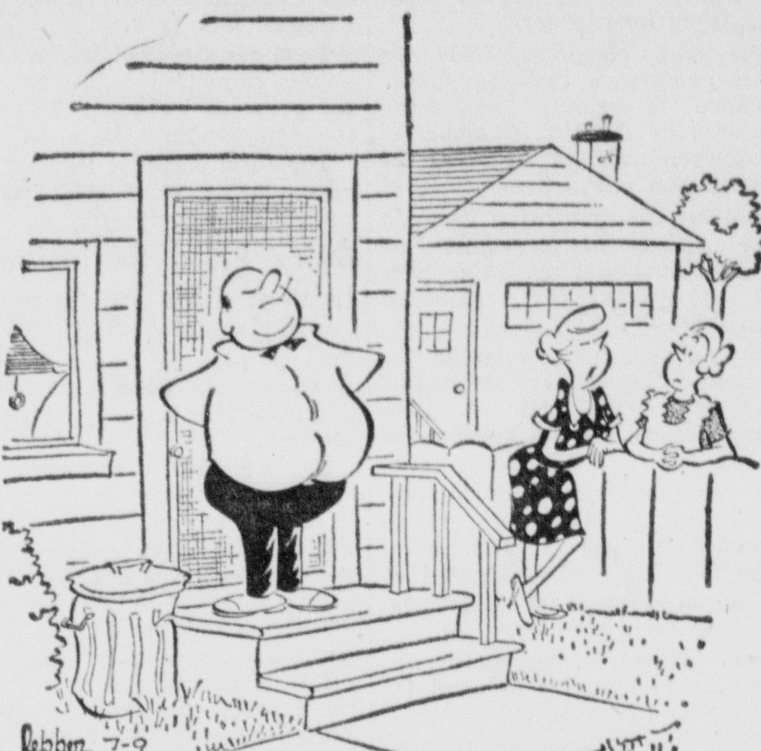

But this year total exports to Europe haven't been increasing, whereas in former years they increased faster than our exports in general.

The trouble with our export-import situation is like that of most of our other problems—the situation is really fairly good; it just isn't good enough.

Mr. Thompson came home from the office one evening with a horrendous tale of the lunch he had eaten. "The restaurant looked inviting," he said, "so I tried it for a change. Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Miscarriages destroy more life than any single killer!

You may have had some. Miscarriages are often mistaken for menstrual periods a week or so late.

Experts know that one in ten fertilized eggs never survives, but they can't estimate how many millions of miscarriages go unrecognized.

Most early miscarriages, during the first three months, stem from defective egg or sperm-cells. They're really blessings. With only a little bleeding, nature prevents millions of abnormal babies.

No doctor or medicine can save these imperfect cells. Bleeding may stop and the threat may pass, but not because of any treatment!

Correcting sluggish thyroid function may prevent future trouble. Tests can tell. And you can try for another baby right away.

A lax womb or hormone-lack brings on most miscarriages after the third month.

Mild pressure, watery discharge and some spotting often signal trouble.

Afterwards, give nature six months to complete housecleaning. One miscarriage doesn't lower your chances for a healthy baby. But three drop the odds to 50-50.

And so your doctor may prescribe progesterone—like hormones, which normally readies womb lining towards the end of each menstrual month. On the other hand, he may not; progesterone may have serious side effects. Surgery can strengthen the lax open womb.

Before Baby begins, the surgeon may trim away defects keeping the womb open. During the third expectant month he may weave a heavy thread in and out around the womb opening, pull tight and tie it closed. At the right time he cuts the string and Baby arrives.

Almost every grandmother has a cure for repeated miscarriages. Most of these remedies work through the mind.

When couples discover how common their problem is, fear, guilt and anxiety vanish. And one in four go on to have a baby!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

TEAR GAS SHELLS FOIL DEATH ROW BREAK—Surrendering in a barrage of tear gas shells three hours after they took two guards hostage in a bold attempt to escape from San Quentin Prison in San Quentin, Calif., six death row inmates said. "We gambled and lost. We were going out the gates." Lower is one of the guards, gun rail officer C. L. Deatrick, shown in an ambulance. He was struck on the head. The six convicts involved are (from left) Luis Moya, Augustine Baldonado, Manuel Chavez, Willard Winhoven, Clyde Bates and David Bickley, all convicted murderers.

What Is the Compulsion?

By George Sokolsky

Dr. Fred Schwarz, on the stationery of the Christian Anti-Communism Crusade, writes:

"We had anticipated problems and difficulties in New York City, but we did not really understand the magnitude of the obstacles that would confront us. These had to be experienced to be believed. New York was a city of bigotry, boycott and fear. In this city it was considered in many quarters un-American to be an unashamed Christian. If a businessman dared to stand with us, he was faced with the threat of economic boycott and financial strangulation. Many who agreed wholeheartedly with our methods and ministry were immobilized by fear of economic and social ostracism."

I do not quite understand why it is "bigotry, boycott and fear" not to follow the behests of Dr. Fred Schwarz. What is the compulsion to follow his leadership or to attend his meetings? Those who want to go are free to go; those who want to stay away are free to stay away. Is this bigotry?

On the night of his Madison Square Garden meeting, only 8,000 attended, which is a small audience. Some left during the speeches because they found them dull and uninspired; others stayed because they found them interesting and exciting.

The only new face among the speakers was Pat Boone, whose ancestor was Daniel Boone. Pat Boone's greatest contribution to the cause of anti-Communism was his promise to blow up his four daughters if the Communists captured them. Of course, no man would really kill his own daughters, not even a descendant of the doughty Daniel Boone. We must therefore accept his statement as an hyperbole, intended to shock.

When someone on the platform spoke about Lenin meeting Hitler a friend telephoned me to inquire whether that was possible. I said that he must have heard wrong. He swore that that was what a speaker said. I still believed that it must have been a slip of the tongue. The dates are wrong. Not Virginia. I never met George Washington. He was no longer around when I was born!

The time for this kind of talk has long since passed. The existence of Marxism in this world is a question of war. Soviet Russia is the Marxist enemy and unless we can fight and destroy Soviet Russia, it will fight and destroy us. As a matter of fact, this battle has been continuous since 1948. Soviet Russia's major recent victory was the conquest of Cuba, because that gave Russia a base 90 miles from the coast of the United States.

While these Schwartzites were busying themselves with the same speeches we all made in the 1930's, the Russian spy, Soblen, escaped from this country. Undoubtedly, this can ultimately lead to another exposure of Soviet espionage, for it is absolutely clear that Soblen could not have made such a smooth escape without assistance. The New York officials of the Federal government ought to be held responsible for Soblen's escape. He was free in $100,000 bail but jumped it. How does it happen that a spy is freed in so little bail? What civil liberties question was involved in justifying putting up the bail on the ground of civil liberties?

I make this point because public officials, like private orators, have not yet adjusted their minds to the warlike character of the present phase of our relations with Soviet Russia. Every Communist must be regarded as a hateful agent of Soviet Russia, but there are more spies than there are Communists. The espionage network in this country ought to be brought to the surface and spies should be imprisoned.

This has nothing to do with fear. It has nothing to do with common sense. It has nothing to do with boycott, although I am sure that boycott is a most wholesome response to public activities. For instance I boycott Polish hams. We in the United States, produce all the hams we require. I have no intention of buying the goods of anybody whom I dislike. There are other goods to buy.

It has now become established by law that to call a man a Communist, unless he admits, it, is libelous. That is a misunderstanding of Communism. It is all right to refer to a man as a Republican, a Democrat, a Nazi, or even an S.O.B. Well, don't call him anything — just boycott him.

Mythical County Created As Faulkner Book Setting

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Yoknapatawpha County is on the border between the sand hills covered with scrubby pine and the black earth of the bottomlands of the Mississippi and its tributaries. Its population of 15,611 persons is scattered over 2,400 square miles.

The mythical county and all of its 15,611 people belong to William Faulkner—"sole owner and proprietor."

It is the setting for the turbulent world created by the Nobel Prize-winning author, who died Friday.

Little distinguishes Yoknapatawpha and its county seat town of Jefferson from many actual towns and counties of the Deep South. In some way Yoknapatawpha County and Jefferson are like Lafayette County and Oxford, Faulkner's home.

The author drew heavily upon his native locale and its people for his invention of Yoknapatawpha.

Faulkner invented Yoknapatawpha County and Jefferson in 1929 in "Sartoris." In three subsequent books—"The Sound and the Fury" (1929), "As I Lay Dying" (1930), and "Sanctuary" (1931)—he added many geographical and historical details.

The rest of his career was largely devoted to an exploration of the not entirely mythical domain.

Yoknapatawpha at the time of the Civil War was dominated by Col. John Sartoris, an overpowering man who raised a regiment and galloped off to Manassas. Demoted by his own men, he returns to Jefferson, raised a new troop and galloped off again. The war over, he built a railroad and was shot dead by a scoundrel.

William Cuthbert Falkner the author's great-grandfather, raised a volunteer regiment which he headed at the first Battle of Bull Run. Like Col. Sartoris, William Cuthbert Falkner was demoted from his command at a yearly election of officers. Returning to Oxford, he assembled more soldiers and again went off to war.

William Cuthbert Falkner also built a railroad after the Civil War to link the area with the commerce of the Middle South. He, too, was shot to death.

(Author Faulkner was born Falkner, but a printer's error inserted the "u" in his first published work and he retained the different spelling the rest of his life.)

Yoknapatawpha County of the 20th Century depicts a period that Faulkner regards as one of moral confusion and social decay. Violent images in his novels of the contemporary Southern life convey a sense of despair.

Faulkner will be buried today in Oxford in a cemetery described in the author's own words in "Sartoris":

"... Marble shapes bearing names and dates in stark and peaceful simplicity. . . Surrounded by symbolic urns and doves. . . and the black cedars from amid which doves crooned. . ."

Faulkner's monument is his work, which he described in his Nobel acceptance speech as "in the agony and sweat of the human spirit."

He said: "I believe that man will not merely endure; he will prevail. He is immortal, . . . because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's very busy in the department of knocks, boosts, double talk and utter confusion.

Overnight, Joe Moriarty, a policy racketeer, turned into one of the American banking system's biggest boosters. He has become a reminder to people going away that their money is safer in the bank.

Some workmen, remodeling a garage, found $2.4 million in the trunk of an old car which used to belong to Moriarty before he went away to a New Jersey prison for a few years.

The government, which said Moriarty owed it a fortune in taxes, grabbed the dough.

Elvis J. Stahr Jr., who just quit as secretary of the Army to become president of Indiana University, called Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara probably the best defense secretary in history.

Then he said, in effect, that Mc-

Namara has taken too much authority into his own hands.

And McNamara, who three weeks ago seemed to be saying this country would not hit Soviet cities in a nuclear war, indicated last week this is not exactly what he meant.

The Pennsylvania conference of the 50 governors couldn't reach full agreement on what ought to be done about civil rights, medical care for the aged, or the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers in public schools.

They finally agreed to be against something which wouldn't make anybody back home mad at them: they don't want the government to cut down the size of their National Guard.

Two fellows named Ben in Algeria, which only a week ago voted for independence from France, got into a power struggle which may soak Algeria in a new wave of blood.

The two—Premier Yousef ben Khedda and Vice Premier Mohammed ben Bella—don't agree on how to run the country which means they don't agree on which should be the boss.

In one of the strangest weddings in years—a kind of shotgun marriage brought about by what they seemed to think is economic necessity—the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for once saw eye-to-eye.

They urged President Kennedy to ask Congress for a tax cut now to boost the economy fast. That's all they agreed on. They disagreed on who should get the biggest cut: the rich or the far-from-rich.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had just finished telling the Senate his department had gotten rid of any employees known to have accepted favors from Texas promoter Billie Sol Estes.

Then up popped two minor department employees from Oklahoma. They had sworn under oath they received nothing from Estes. Now they told the Senate they got $1,640 from the Estes outfit in a cotton deal.

They tried to resign but Freeman suspended them. Department officials said this was better than accepting their resignations since it would prevent their future employment by the department.

This probably makes no sense to anyone outside the department.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 9, the 190th day of 1962.

There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1780, the U.S. cruiser Proctor blew up the English privateer Admiral Duff. Only 55 Englishmen were saved.

On this date:

In 1386, the Swiss defeated the Austrians in the Battle of Sempach.

In 1816, Argentina proclaimed its independence from Spain.

In 1850, U.S. President Zachary Taylor died in office.

In 1945, British aristocrat John Amery was charged with committing treason against his own country.

In 1960, Russia announced that a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane had been shot down.

Movie Director George Cukor is 63. News commentator H. V. Kaltenborn is 84.

Thought for today:

That man may last, but never lives, who much receives, but nothing gives; whom none can love, whom none can thank—creation's blot, creation's blank —Thomas Gibbons.

Then he said, in effect, that Mc-

Namara has taken too much authority into his own hands.

And McNamara, who three weeks ago seemed to be saying this country would not hit Soviet cities in a nuclear war, indicated last week this is not exactly what he meant.

The Pennsylvania conference of the 50 governors couldn't reach full agreement on what ought to be done about civil rights, medical care for the aged, or the Supreme Court's ban on official prayers in public schools.

They finally agreed to be against something which wouldn't make anybody back home mad at them: they don't want the government to cut down the size of their National Guard.

Two fellows named Ben in Algeria, which only a week ago voted for independence from France, got into a power struggle which may soak Algeria in a new wave of blood.

The two—Premier Yousef ben Khedda and Vice Premier Mohammed ben Bella—don't agree on how to run the country which means they don't agree on which should be the boss.

In one of the strangest weddings in years—a kind of shotgun marriage brought about by what they seemed to think is economic necessity—the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for once saw eye-to-eye.

They urged President Kennedy to ask Congress for a tax cut now to boost the economy fast. That's all they agreed on. They disagreed on who should get the biggest cut: the rich or the far-from-rich.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had just finished telling the Senate his department had gotten rid of any employees known to have accepted favors from Texas promoter Billie Sol Estes.

Then up popped two minor department employees from Oklahoma. They had sworn under oath they received nothing from Estes. Now they told the Senate they got $1,640 from the Estes outfit in a cotton deal.

They tried to resign but Freeman suspended them. Department officials said this was better than accepting their resignations since it would prevent their future employment by the department.

This probably makes no sense to anyone outside the department.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 9, the 190th day of 1962.

There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1780, the U.S. cruiser Proctor blew up the English privateer Admiral Duff. Only 55 Englishmen were saved.

On this date:

In 1386, the Swiss defeated the Austrians in the Battle of Sempach.

In 1816, Argentina proclaimed its independence from Spain.

In 1850, U.S. President Zachary Taylor died in office.

In 1945, British aristocrat John Amery was charged with committing treason against his own country.

In 1960, Russia announced that a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane had been shot down.

Movie Director George Cukor is 63. News commentator H. V. Kaltenborn is 84.

Thought for today:

That man may last, but never lives, who much receives, but nothing gives; whom none can love, whom none can thank,—creation's blot, creation's blank.—Thomas Gibbons.

Teamsters Accept Middletown Contract

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Four sand and gravel companies in this area were ready to resume business today following the end of a week-long strike by Teamsters Union members. Forty-six drivers and plant workers employed by the firms voted over the week-end to accept a new two-year contract providing for a 10-cents hourly raise effective next July 1 and for increased hospital and insurance benefits.

more people are choosing GAS AIR CONDITIONING

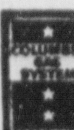

for their homes. Most everyone heats with GAS and is familiar with its economies and performance. So, when people learn about economical, complete-home, GAS air conditioning, they want it!

Every room in your home can be cool, regardless of simmering summer temperatures. You can sleep comfortably . . . cook and bake in relaxed coolness . . . have fresh, cool air throughout the house for comfort and health. Comes winter and your GAS cooling system readily converts to heating . . . filtered, fresh-air GAS heating that keeps the whole house snug and clean for your comfort.

You can have a GAS add-on central air conditioning unit installed in your present forced air heating system, probably using the existing furnace ductwork for cooling. In either case, whole-house GAS air conditioning costs less than you might think.

If you are planning to buy or build a new home or to remodel your present home, find out about GAS air conditioning. The installation costs of a central GAS heating-cooling system can be financed through the Gas Company, and you can make the payments right along with your regular gas bill. Call your Gas Company for a free air conditioning survey.

Savory Recipe Tempts Fans of Fish Chowder

By ALICE DENHOFF

The word "chowder" comes from the French "chaudiere", the name of the large copper cookery pot used for fish stews along the Brittany coast. Proof that the hearty sea food and fish stews have long been popular can be seen by leafing through any old cook book.

Daniel Webster recorded his favorite way of making this savory, nutritious dish in the early 1800s. For nutrition, you can't beat a good chowder, and that goes for its taste, too.

Haddock, a popular fish for chowders, has firm, white flesh. It's plentiful and inexpensive and is available if not fresh, then frozen.

Here is a good recipe geared to serve 6.

SAVORY FISH CHOWDER

- 1 lb. fish fillets or steaks (fresh or frozen)
- 1 c. light cream
- 3 c. milk
- 1 can French-fried onions
- 1/4 c. raw bacon bits
- 1 c. water
- 1/4 c. sliced celery
- 1 c. diced raw potatoes
- 1/2 c. diced carrots
- 1 bay leaf, crumbled
- 1/4 c. butter or margarine
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Canned French-fried onions
- Parsley

Thaw fish, if frozen. Cut fish into bite-sized pieces.

Mix cream, milk and onions; set aside to soak.

Cook bacon in large saucepan until softened.

Add water, celery, potatoes, carrots and bay leaf. Cover and cook 10 min.

Add fish, onion-milk mixture and butter. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 6 to 8 min. or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork.

Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Serve with a garnish of French-fried onions and a sprinkling of parsley.

To save time, make up a big batch of chowder the night before it's to be served. Keep it refrigerated in a tightly-covered container.

And here's a fine baked fish recipe.

HALIBUT WITH ONIONS

- 2 lbs. halibut or swordfish steaks (fresh or frozen)
- tsp. salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 1/4 c. milk, scalded
- 2 tsp. butter
- 2 tsp. flour
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 can French-fried onions
- Paprika

Thaw fish, if frozen, drain well. Place in well-greased baking pan.

Add seasonings to milk and pour over fish. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees F. for 15 min. Remove from oven.

Drain liquid and save.

Place fish in hot platter and keep warm.

Melt butter; blend in flour. Add hot liquid gradually and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice.

Pour over fish and sprinkle with canned French-fried onions and paprika.

Serves 6.

A colorful, cool, jellied salad goes well with any meal.

Here's one that's as tasty as it is pretty.

JELLIED EMERALD SALAD

- 1 pkg. lime-flavored gelatin
- 2 c. boiling water
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 c. cottage cheese
- 1/4 tsp. each onion, garlic and celery salt
- 1/2 tsp. powdered dry mustard
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add lemon juice. Chill until mixture begins to set.
- Combine cottage cheese and seasonings. Fold into gelatin and turn into 1-qt. mold. Chill until firm.
- Serves 5 to 6.

Recipes for Cook-Out Are Simply Wonderful and Easy

By ALICE DENHOFF

This year, let's keep the fuss out of back yard barbecuing! There are plenty of ways an outdoor meal can be made delicious without spending hours of preparation in the kitchen beforehand.

The "Make-It-Yourself Salad" idea is one method of saving time and effort.

You merely place an assortment of fruits, vegetables and greens on separate platters and leave a stack of salad bowls and cruetes of dressings nearby. The guests come along cafeteria-style and arrange the ingredients and seasonings to their own taste.

It's fun for the guests and work-saving for the host.

Also in the time - and - effort - saver category are little jars of seasoning salts — onion, garlic and celery. These flavors are to broils and fries what mustard is to the hot dog.

And here's the first recipe to start off the back yard season.

HAMBURGER KEBABS

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground chuck
- 1/4 tsp. garlic salt
- 1/2 tsp. each onion salt and celery salt
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 12 mushroom buttons, if desired
- 12 (1-in.) pieces green pepper
- 12 (1-in.) pieces tomato
- 12 (1-in.) pieces Bermuda onion
- 3 tbsp. olive oil
- Combine meat with seasoning salts and pepper. Form into 1 1/2-in. balls.
- Thread on skewer alternating with vegetables.
- Brush with olive oil and broil over hot charcoal.
- Serves 6.
- A turkey half is an ideal choice for a small family, especially if it's made like this one.

BARBECUED BELTSVILLE TURKEY HALF

- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 4 to 5 lb. turkey, cut in half
- Barbecue Sauce
- Melt butter in heavy roasting pan.
- Brown turkey half lightly in butter. Spoon barbecue sauce over it.
- Bake slowly in portable oven on top of grill 2 to 2 1/2 hrs. or until tender, basting frequently with sauce.
- Serves 3 to 4.
- Save the other half for later use.

BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 c. tomato juice
- 1 1/2 c. consomme
- 1/2 tsp. each onion salt and garlic salt
- 1/4 tsp. ground thyme leaves
- 1/4 tsp. cayenne
- 1/4 tsp. crumbled tarragon
- 1/4 tsp. black pepper
- 3 whole cloves
- 1 tbsp. brown sugar
- 3 tbsp. minced green pepper
- 1 tbsp. dried parsley flakes
- 2 tsp. wine vinegar
- Combine all ingredients; simmer 8 to 10 min.
- Makes 3 c. sauce.

Easy Projects With Towels

BEACH DRESS — A flower print bath towel makes a shoulder-tie dress.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Some of the cleverest and easiest do-it-yourself projects we've come across in a long time are wrapped up in towels — bath, hand and dish towels.

Practical because they're so wonderfully washable, towels are now prettier than ever in a rainbow selection of solid colors and in decorative patterns as well. It's no wonder homemakers are putting them to a variety of uses.

Bath towels will be seen at the beach this summer. But maybe you won't recognize them, for homemakers are using them to sew up beach ponchos and coats, to make children's robes and shoulder-tie beach dresses.

Hand towels are being turned into decorative bibs for Baby, into pleasingly practical placemats for the table and cute cafe curtains.

Dish towels appear as aprons, laundry bags and even shoe bags.

Like garlic flavor? Add a clove of peeled garlic, cut in half, to a jar of not-too-sweet pickles; cover tightly and allow to stand overnight.

Use raisin bread for making cinnamon toast when your youngsters want a special after-school treat.

Dear Abby: A 'Friend' Indeed!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who brings up a subject which hurts and embarrasses us. You see, my husband's brother served time. It's all in the past now. Joe is going straight and we are trying to forget it.

This friend is always using expressions like, "jail bird," "did time in the pen" and "up the river." Of course it bothers us. He knows about Joe because he's lived in this town all his life and it was no secret. What can you do with a person like that, and how can we shut him up?

DEAR SENSITIVE: REAL friends abide by the Chinese proverb: "Speak not of a rope in the home of a man who was hanged." Your "friend" should engage his brain before he puts his mouth in gear. Take him aside and tell him.

DEAR ABBY: Either my sister-in-law has a wild imagination or else she is the world's biggest liar. Yesterday she told me that her nine-week-old baby turned himself completely over in his crib! She also said that her two-and-a-half-year old daughter could do the Twist. Have you or any of your readers ever heard of such accomplishments from babies their age?

DEAR FROM: Are you really "From Missouri" or do you just want to be shown? Your sister-in-law could be telling the truth on both counts.

DEAR ABBY: Will you kindly say a word to some dentists who will get a child in their chair and say, "This won't hurt a bit"—and then go to work and the kid almost goes into orbit! No wonder children are scared to death to go to a dentist.

MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Any dentist who tells a patient that it isn't going to hurt, when it will, should go back to school and study (A) Ethics, (B) Psychology, (C) Dentistry. P.S. Don't overlook, however, that a child often will protest more out of fear than from pain.

DEAR ABBY: Could you tell me how long a person has to babysit before she is entitled to a PAID vacation?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: Oh—say about 40 years.

How is the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren A 'Friend' Indeed!

DEAR ABBY: We have a friend who brings up a subject which hurts and embarrasses us. You see, my husband's brother served time. It's all in the past now. Joe is going straight and we are trying to forget it.

This friend is always using expressions like, "jail bird," "did time in the pen" and "up the river." Of course it bothers us. He knows about Joe because he's lived in this town all his life and it was no secret. What can you do with a person like that, and how can we shut him up?

DEAR SENSITIVE: REAL friends abide by the Chinese proverb: "Speak not of a rope in the home of a man who was hanged." Your "friend" should engage his brain before he puts his mouth in gear. Take him aside and tell him.

DEAR ABBY: Either my sister-in-law has a wild imagination or else she is the world's biggest liar. Yesterday she told me that her nine-week-old baby turned himself completely over in his crib! She also said that her two-and-a-half-year old daughter could do the Twist. Have you or any of your readers ever heard of such accomplishments from babies their age?

DEAR FROM: Are you really "From Missouri" or do you just want to be shown? Your sister-in-law could be telling the truth on both counts.

DEAR ABBY: Will you kindly say a word to some dentists who will get a child in their chair and say, "This won't hurt a bit"—and then go to work and the kid almost goes into orbit! No wonder children are scared to death to go to a dentist.

MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Any dentist who tells a patient that it isn't going to hurt, when it will, should go back to school and study (A) Ethics, (B) Psychology, (C) Dentistry. P.S. Don't overlook, however, that a child often will protest more out of fear than from pain.

DEAR ABBY: Could you tell me how long a person has to babysit before she is entitled to a PAID vacation?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: Oh—say about 40 years.

How is the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Ashville Nine, DuPont Win BR Games

Ashville No. 2 scored a 16-6 win over Savings Bank in the Babe Ruth Minors to hand the Bankmen their first loss of the year. The victory put Ashville on top in the second round of play with a perfect 4-0 mark. Savings Bank finished the second round in second place with a 3-1 record.

Dupont assured themselves of at least a tie in the second round Babe Ruth Majors with a 10-1 romp over L. M. Butch. Dupont has a 4-1 second round record to 3-1 for Ashville No. 1 who has one more game to play.

Dore and Nance led the Ashville attack with seven hits between them. Dore banged four singles in five trips to the plate and scored two runs. Nance socked a triple, double, and a single and crossed the plate twice. Binion was two for five with two doubles and Lambert singled twice and scored four runs.

Nance was the winning hurler and in seven innings struck out eight and gave up nine hits. Lloyd McManus was the losing pitcher and struck out six in the six innings he pitched.

Roger Grigg had a perfect day at the plate for Savings Bank with three singles in three official trips and he also scored two runs. Charley Hurley socked two singles and McManus banged a double.

Here are the final second round standings in Babe Ruth Minors: Ashville No. 2 4 0 Savings Bank 3 1 VFW 2 2 Third National 1 3 Kochheiser 0 4

Collins Credits Doc after Victory

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A happy Bill Collins wasn't complaining about his doctor bills today.

The 3-year-old veteran of 11 seasons as a pro golfer pocketed $9,000 first prize money in the Flint Open Sunday.

"A lot of the credit has to go to a chiropractor who treated me all week for a real bad back," the big Miami, Fla., ex-Marine said.

Collins, who won his first tournament since the Houston Classic in 1960, held off a late challenge from a fellow Floridian Dave Ragna, who started and ended the day a stroke behind Collins.

They both had 72's, Collins finishing with a 284.

356 Tee Off In British Open

Palmer Is Favored 2-1 To Win Title

TROON, Scotland (AP) — The world's greatest swingers took on Scotland's nasty "little giant"—Old Troon—today in a week-long quest for the British Open golf championship.

A total of 356 players from a score of countries teed off on Old Troon and its neighboring links, Loch Green, in two days of 36-hole qualifying for the championship proper.

Even the most confident professional and top ranking amateur admitted he was only chasing after mighty Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who is defending the title he won at Birkdale in England last year.

Gambler made the American master 2-1, the shortest price ever offered before a British Open, even in the days of Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

Behind Palmer, the odds-makers listed Jack Nicklaus, U.S. South Africa; Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia; Gene Littler, the 1961 American Open king; and as an outsider, British Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees.

Palmer and Player were not as confident as their backers, nor was Nicklaus.

Dried out by drought and scorching wind, the Troon links baffled most of the stars in their tune-up rounds.

Sam Snead cracked around once in a 66, but conceded he'd never in a match that again. Just turned 50 last May, Snead's chances in this endurance contest were calculated at no better than 7-1 and that was largely sentimental support.

Troon was lengthened by 500 yards to 7,045, par 72, for this championship, but none of the power hitters was concerned over that. What bothered them all was the bone-dry terrain.

After 18 holes Wednesday and another round on Thursday the finalists are reduced to the low 50 for the 36-hole tour Friday. Prize money totals $23,800. First prize of $3,920 is scant by American standards, but the pros will tell you this is one they really want to win for the prestige alone.

Chisox Prove Old Nemesis To Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Chicago White Sox are developing a bad habit from Cleveland's point of view—knocking the Indians out of first place.

With the aid of Charlie Maxwell's potent bat, the White Sox swept a doubleheader from the Tribe Sunday, 6-3 and 8-4, and topped Cleveland from the league lead for the second time since July 1. New York took over the top spot a game ahead of the Indians. The losses broke Cleveland's winning streak of six games and gave Chicago a 7-3 season edge over the Indians.

Maxwell, long famous for his lusty Sunday hitting, struck a homer, a triple and four singles and drove in three runs during the afternoon.

His homer off Jim Perry (7-6) in the sixth inning of the opener tied the game at 3-3 and preceded a two-run homer by Luis Aparicio off Frank Funk in the same frame. Cleveland had taken a 3-2 lead on Woodie Held's two-run homer, his 13th of the season.

The White Sox scored four unearned runs off Pedro Ramos (4-6) in the first inning of the nightcap—two of them on Maxwell's triple.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro went all the way for Chicago in the first game, allowing only seven hits and striking out nine. Ray Herbert pitched a complete game in the nightcap for the White Sox, although he gave up 11 hits.

The Indians play a three-game series in Baltimore Thursday after a three-day break for the All-Star game.

Bill Casper of Appel Valley, Calif. and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., wound up with 286's.

Bunning, Drysdale Tipped All-Star Starting Hurlers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right-handed aces Jim Bunning of Detroit and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were expected to be named starting pitchers today in Tuesday's All-Star game, the first of two midsummer meetings between the best players of the American and National leagues.

A capacity crowd of 45,015 was assured for this 32nd interleague spectacle, the third in Washington, the second here in six years and the first in the new $22 million D.C. Stadium. The game, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast and telecast by NBC.

The second game, which probably will mark the last of the two-game system begun in 1959, will be played in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30. The American League holds an overall 16 to 14 edge, but the Nationals have won four and tied one of the last six.

Wimbledon Crowns Its Tennis Kings

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—It was a Wimbledon of upset results and long after Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman had been crowned women's champion on Saturday, the arguments went on around the All-England Tennis Club over the shock defeat of the mighty which staggered the 76th tournament.

Mrs. Susman of Chula Vista, Calif. was seeded eighth. Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, whom she defeated in the final, was not seeded at all. In earlier rounds, the three top seeds—Margaret Smith of Australia, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif. and Maria Bueno of Brazil—were all sensationally toppled.

Rod Laver of Australia swept to the men's title for the second straight year and proved himself without doubt the world's finest amateur player. Previously this year, he had won the Australian and French titles. Now he needs to win at Forest Hills to equal Don Budge's unique grand slam achieved in 1938.

Coca Cola Jets Win Second Round of LL

The Coca Cola Jets gained top honors in the second round of the little league majors in the Youth Baseball Program. The Cokemen finished the second round with a 5-0 mark, pushing their record to a perfect 10-0 for the two rounds. The Herald and Ralston Purina tied for second with 3-2 records.

There is one more round of five games to be played. If the Jets win the third round they will be league champions. If one of the other teams wins the third round a three game series will be played between the Jets and the third round winner to determine the champion.

Here are the second round standings: Coca Cola 5 0 The Herald 3 2 Ralston Purina 3 2 BPOE 2 3 American Legion 2 3 Bingmans 0 5

Legion Team Wins Berth In Finals

The Circleville American Legion baseball team assured themselves of at least a runner up spot in the Legion tournament at Chillicothe yesterday by beating Washington C. H. 6-2.

The local Legion nine downed Chillicothe Saturday morning in the opening game of the tourney by a score of 6-2 to earn a shot at Portsmouth in the winners bracket of the double elimination event.

Portsmouth shut out Circleville 7-0 but the win over WCH earned the Roundtowners another shot at the Portsmouth team. They play 6 p. m. Tuesday on the diamond at the Veterans hospital.

In order to win the tourney, Circleville has to beat the Portsmouth team twice. If they win Tuesday they meet again at 6 p. m. Friday. Should Portsmouth win, they will be the championship team.

The Circleville team will leave from the Ted Lewis Park at 5 p. m. Tuesday.

NL Sluggers Set Major Loop Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS National League sluggers belted 28 home runs Sunday, setting one major league mark and leading the way to another.

The 28 was a new high for one league in an eight-game schedule, two more than the old mark set by the National League on May 30, 1956. And with the 17 hit in the American League, a high of 45 was established for both leagues in a 15-game schedule. That previous record was 37—on July 16, 1950 and July 4, 1955.

The biggest homer day in major league history was June 10 of this year, when the American League had 30 in 10 games and the National added 24 in 10. Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' 41-year-old star, was top man on Sunday with three.

Coca Cola Nine Drops Tilt At Frankfort

The Coca Cola Jets, undefeated in the Little League majors in the Circleville youth baseball program, dropped an exhibition game 4-2 to the Frankfort All-Stars.

Dale Byrd, the starting hurler for the Jets, gave up three hits and issued six bases on balls. He was relieved by Rick Congrove with two away in the fourth. Congrove held the winners hitless in the one and one-third innings he pitched. He fanned three and walked two. Byrd was credited with the loss.

The Cokemen outthit the Ross County nine, collecting six in the tilt, while limiting their opponents to three.

Tom Wright and Bob Tootle shared hitting honors in the game. Both were two for four. Rick Congrove and Eddie Wells singled for the losers.

The league leading Jets have seven players batting .395 or better. Rick Congrove is pacing the team with 20 hits in 30 official times at bat for a hot .667 average. Rick Sims is the number two man on the team with a .572 average, connecting safely 20 times in 35 trips to the plate. Tom Wright's 19 hits in 36 turns give him a .528 average and Rod Sines is 13 for 26 — an even .500.

Following are the batting averages of the team members according to the statistics kept by William Hodge, team manager.

TWO MILLION PINT-SIZE MIRACLES FROM RED CROSS

Blood, and more blood. For a child, a loved one. Yours . . . someone's. Blood to save lives, to speed recovery of the seriously ill.

The Red Cross collects on average of over four pints of blood a minute, the year around—nearly 2½ million pints a year, over 40 per cent of all the blood collected in America! Most of it goes to hospitals for transfusion; the rest is converted into life-saving and disease-fighting derivatives, also given at no cost for the product to hospitals, physicians and health agencies.

But new uses for blood and blood products, for a fast-growing population, are constantly being found. SO THERE ARE MORE NEEDS FOR BLOOD TODAY THAN EVER BEFORE!

Ashville Nine, DuPont Win BR Games

Ashville No. 2 scored a 16-6 win over Savings Bank in the Babe Ruth Minors to hand the Bankmen their first loss of the year. The victory put Ashville on top in the second round of play with a perfect 4-0 mark. Savings Bank finished the second round in second place with a 3-1 record.

Dupont assured themselves of at least a tie in the second round Babe Ruth Majors with a 10-1 romp over L. M. Butch. Dupont has a 4-1 second round record to 3-1 for Ashville No. 1 who has one more game to play.

Dore and Nance led the Ashville attack with seven hits between them. Dore batted first and singled in five trips to the plate and scored two runs. Nance socked a triple, double, and a single and crossed the plate twice. Binion was two for five with two doubles and Lambert singled twice and scored four runs.

Nance was the winning hurler and in seven innings struck out eight and gave up nine hits. Lloyd McManus was the losing pitcher and struck out six in the six innings he pitched.

Roger Grigg had a perfect day at the plate for Savings Bank with three singles in three official trips and he also scored two runs. Charley Hurley socked two singles and McManus banged a double.

Collins Credits Doc after Victory

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A happy Bill Collins wasn't complaining about his doctor bills today. The 3-year-old veteran of 11 seasons as a pro golfer pocketed $9,000 first prize money in the Flint Open Sunday. "A lot of the credit has to go to a chiropractor who treated me all week for a real bad back," the big Miami, Fla., ex-Marine said. Collins, who won his first tournament since the Houston Classic in 1960, held off a late challenge from a fellow Floridian Dave Ragna, who started and ended the day a stroke behind Collins. They both had 72's, Collins finishing with a 284. Former Flint Open champion

356 Tee Off In British Open

Palmer Is Favored 2-1 To Win Title

TROON, Scotland (AP)—The world's greatest swingers took on Scotland's nasty "little giant"—Old Troon—today in a week-long quest for the British Open golf championship.

A total of 356 players from a score of countries teed off on Old Troon and its neighboring links, Loch Green, in two days of 36-hole qualifying for the championship proper.

Even the most confident professional and top ranking amateur admitted he was only chasing after the mighty Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., who is defending the title he won at Birkdale in England last year.

Gambler made the American master 2-1, the shortest price ever offered before a British Open, even in the days of Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and Ben Hogan.

Behind Palmer, the oddsmakers listed Jack Nicklaus, U.S. South Africa; Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia; Gene Littler, the 1961 American Open king; and as an outsider, British Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees.

Palmer and Player were not as confident as their backers, nor was Nicklaus. Dried out by drought and scorching wind, the Troon links baffled most of the stars in their tune-up rounds.

Sam Snead cracked around once in a 66, but conceded he'd never match that again. Just turned 50 last May, Snead's chances in this endurance contest were calculated at no better than 7-1 and that was largely sentimental support.

Troon was lengthened by 500 yards to 7,045, par 72, for this championship, but none of the power hitters was concerned over that. What bothered them all was the bone-dry terrain. After 18 holes Wednesday and another round on Thursday the finalists are reduced to the low 50 for the 36-hole tour Friday. Prize money totals $23,800. First prize of $3,920 is scant by American standards, but the pros will tell you this is one they really want to be prestige alone.

Chisox Prove Old Nemesis To Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Chicago White Sox are developing a bad habit from Cleveland's point of view—knocking the Indians out of first place.

With the aid of Charlie Maxwell's potent bat, the White Sox swept a doubleheader from the Tribe Sunday, 6-3 and 8-4, and topped Cleveland from the league lead for the second time since July 1. New York took over the top spot a game ahead of the Indians. The losses broke Cleveland's winning streak of six games and gave Chicago a 7-3 season edge over the Indians.

Maxwell, long famous for his lusty Sunday hitting, struck a homer, a triple and four singles and drove in three runs during the afternoon.

His homer off Jim Perry (7-6) in the sixth inning of the opener tied the game at 3-3 and preceded a two-run homer by Luis Aparicio off Frank Funk in the same frame. Cleveland had taken a 3-2 lead on Woodie Held's two-run homer, his 13th of the season.

The White Sox scored four unearned runs off Pedro Ramos (4-6) in the first inning of the nightcap—two of them on Maxwell's triple.

Southpaw Juan Pizarro went all the way for Chicago in the first game, allowing only seven hits and striking out nine. Ray Herbert pitched a complete game in the nightcap for the White Sox, although he gave up 11 hits. The Indians play a three-game series in Baltimore Thursday after a three-day break for the All-Star game.

Bill Casper of Appel Valley, Calif. and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., wound up with 286's.

Bunning, Drysdale Tipped All-Star Starting Hurlers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Right-handed aces Jim Bunning of Detroit and Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers were expected to be named starting pitchers today in Tuesday's All-Star game, the first of two midsummer meetings between the best players of the American and National leagues.

A capacity crowd of 45,015 was assured for this 32nd interleague spectacle, the third in Washington, the second here in six years and the first in the new $22 million D.C. Stadium. The game, starting at 12 noon (EST) will be broadcast and telecast by NBC.

The second game, which probably will mark the last of the two-game system begun in 1959, will be played in Chicago's Wrigley Field, Monday, July 30. The American League holds an overall 16 to 14 edge, but the Nationals have won four and tied one of the last six.

Wimbledon Crowns Its Tennis Kings

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—It was a Wimbledon of upset results and long after Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman had been crowned women's champion on Saturday, the arguments went on around the All-England Tennis Club over the shock defeat of the mighty which staggered the 76th tournament.

Mrs. Susman of Chula Vista, Calif. was seeded eighth. Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, whom she defeated in the final, was not seeded at all. In earlier rounds, the three top seeds—Margaret Smith of Australia, Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif. and Maria Bueno of Brazil—were all sensationally toppled.

Rod Laver of Australia swept to the men's title for the second straight year and proved himself without doubt the world's finest amateur player. Previously this year, he had won the Australian and French titles. Now he needs to win at Forest Hills to equal Don Budge's unique grand slam achieved in 1938.

Coca Cola Jets Win Second Round of LL

The Coca Cola Jets gained top honors in the second round of the little league majors in the Youth Baseball Program. The Cokemen finished the second round with a 5-0 mark, pushing their record to a perfect 10-0 for the two rounds. The Herald and Ralston Purina tied for second with 3-2 records.

There is one more round of five games to be played. If the Jets win the third round they will be league champions. If one of the other teams wins the third round a three game series will be played between the Jets and the third round winner to determine the championship.

Here are the second round standings: Coca Cola ..... 5 0 The Herald ..... 3 2 Ralston Purina ..... 3 2 BPOE ..... 2 3 American Legion ..... 2 3 Bingmans ..... 0 5

Legion Team Wins Berth In Finals

The Circleville American Legion baseball team assured themselves of at least a runner up spot in the Legion tournament at Chillicothe yesterday by beating Washington C. H. 6-2.

The local Legion nine downed Chillicothe Saturday morning in the opening game of the tourney by a score of 6-2 to earn a shot at Portsmouth in the winners bracket of the double elimination event.

Portsmouth shut out Circleville 7-0 but the win over WCH earned the Roundtowners another shot at the Portsmouth team. They play 6 p. m. Tuesday on the diamond at the Veterans hospital.

In order to win the tourney, Circleville has to beat the Portsmouth team twice. If they win Tuesday they meet again at 6 p. m. Friday. Should Portsmouth win, they will be the championship team.

The Circleville team will leave from the Ted Lewis Park at 5 p. m. Tuesday.

NL Sluggers Set Major Loop Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
National League sluggers belted 28 home runs Sunday, setting one major league mark and leading the way to another.

The 28 was a new high for one league in an eight-game schedule, two more than the old mark set by the National League on May 30, 1956. And with the 17 hit in the American League, a high of 45 was established for both leagues in a 15-game schedule. That previous record was 37—on July 16, 1950 and July 4, 1955.

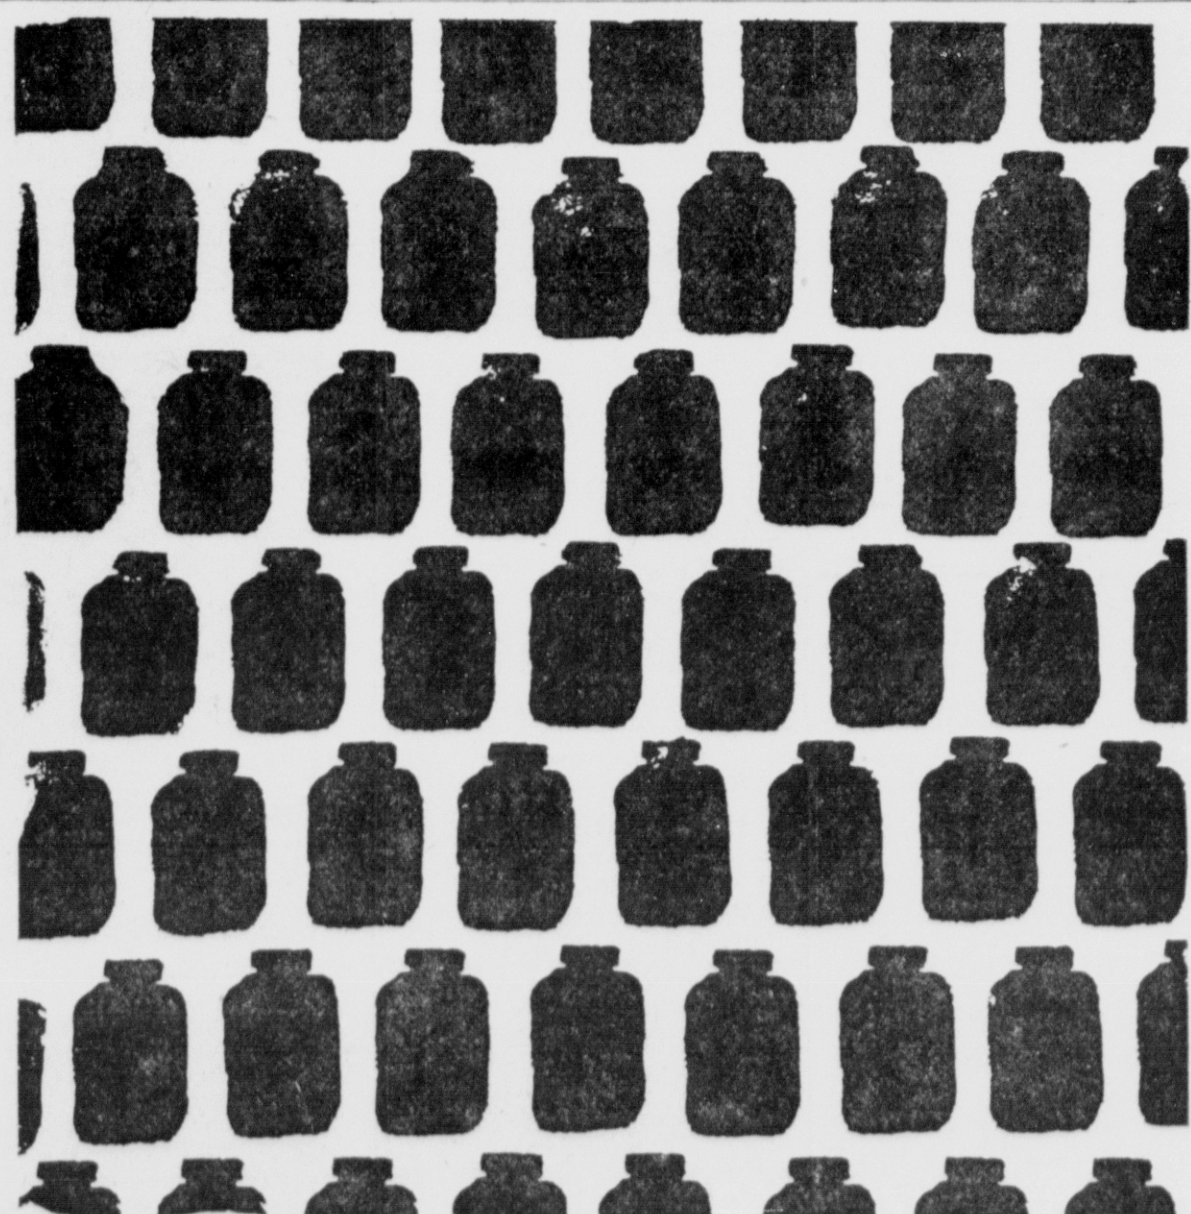

The biggest homer day in major league history was June 10 of this year, when the American League had 30 in 10 games and the National added 24 in 10.

Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' 41-year-old star, was top man on Sunday with three.

TWO MILLION PINT-SIZE MIRACLES FROM RED CROSS

Blood, and more blood, for a child, a loved one. Yours . . . someone's. Blood to save lives, to speed recovery of the seriously ill.

The Red Cross collects on average of over four pints of blood a minute, the year around—nearly 2 1/2 million pints a year, over 40 per cent of all the blood collected in America! Most of it goes to hospitals for transfusion; the rest is converted into life-saving and disease-fighting derivatives, also given at no cost for the product to hospitals, physicians and health agencies.

But new uses for blood and blood products, for a fast-growing population, are constantly being found. SO THERE ARE MORE NEEDS FOR BLOOD TODAY THAN EVER BEFORE!

Coca Cola Nine Drops Tilt At Frankfort

The Coca Cola Jets, undefeated in the Little League majors in the Circleville youth baseball program, dropped an exhibition game 4-2 to the Frankfort All-Stars.

Dale Byrd, the starting hurler for the Jets, gave up three hits and issued six bases on balls. He was relieved by Rick Congrove with two away in the fourth. Congrove held the winners hitless in the one and one-third innings he pitched. He fanned three and walked two. Byrd was credited with the loss.

The Cokemen outlit the Ross County nine, collecting six in the tilt, while limiting their opponents to three. Tom Wright and Bob Tootle shared hitting honors in the game. Both were two for four. Rick Congrove and Eddie Wells singled for the losers.

The league leading Jets have seven players batting .395 or better. Rick Congrove is pacing the team with 20 hits in 30 official times at bat for a hot .667 average. Rick Sims is the number two man on the team with a .572 average, connecting safely 20 times in 35 trips to the plate. Tom Wright's 19 hits in 36 turns give him a .528 average and Rod Sines is 13 for 26 — an even .500.

Following are the batting averages of the team members according to the statistics kept by William Hodge, team manager.

Players Seeking Shorter Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—The major leagues may cut down to a 153-game schedule in 1963 if the baseball players have their way.

Player representatives of the 29 major league clubs met today to discuss methods of easing the schedule. Many favor cutting it from 162 to 153 games.

The players also will ask the owners to avoid scheduling night games on the last day of a series.

This practice has resulted in many clubs traveling all night and arriving in the early morning hours with a game scheduled the same night.

After the players have drawn up their recommendations Judge Robert Cannon, their counsel, will pass them on to the owners. However, the owners do not hold their annual meeting until December, so no immediate decision is to be expected.

Levacar To Be New Means Of Air Travel . . . by Rail

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

DETROIT — Downtown New York City to downtown Philadelphia in half an hour — by rail!

In the same way that military strategists always have forecast that an adequate defense invariably comes along to counteract every new offense, the harassed railroads may have the answer at last to what appeared to be their nemesis: air travel.

An automobile manufacturer — of all things! — may have hatched the idea for an ultimate answer to rail travel problems in the shape of a 200-passenger "levacar" which will scoot a speed up to 500 miles an hour on cushions of air only a thousandths of an inch thick!

Engineers at Ford, whose "fivver" ironically shares blame for putting the railroads on the skids initially, believe that they have the formula for the railroads to rise Phoenixlike from the ashes of their current passenger train troubles and reassure themselves as haulers of mass transportation between huge population centers.

The Seattle World's Fair's vaunted monorail would be far eclipsed

ed by the new wheel-less levacar, which Ford calls the "Aeolus" after the Greek god of the wind, but it also shows the way for its rapid development in urban centers.

Pairs of square rails would be mounted over existing rights of way in the manner of the monorail, so that the railroads could have their cake and eat it, too. Slower freight trains would use existing ground level routes, while air-propelled trains, traveling at fantastic speed on "levipads" instead of wheels, would zip back and forth overhead.

This is the rail version of the aerocar which have created a sensation in recent years. With wheel-less vehicles apparently at their speed ceiling of around 200 miles per hour, motor car makers may be trying to make sure that the boom in technology of the next few years will not leave them in the lurch.

Chrysler is experimenting intensively with turbine engines, as are other auto manufacturers, including American Motors. Studebaker-Packard is teaming with Curtiss-Wright on aerocar development, and Ford may be setting out to challenge General Motors' already big role in manufacturing railroad locomotives.

Successful working models of levacars carrying several persons indicate that it is far from being just a dream on the engineer's drawing boards. Tiny jets of air directed at the rail miraculously eliminate friction, and propellers fore and aft provide the thrust for phenomenal speeds.

Calculations by the engineers show how far they have come: A levacar carrying 200 passengers will have a gross weight of 76,000 will be needed to lift each ton, plus an additional eight horsepower for guidance. This value remains constant regardless of the speed of the vehicle.

An additional 160 horsepower will be required to move the Aeolus 100 miles an hour. Since power requirements for propulsion increase by the cube of the velocity, this means 4,320 h.p. for 300 m.p.h. These values actually give the levacar a distinct power advantage over modern aircraft.

Similar engineering analysis shows that an airplane needs 80 h.p. for each ton of weight at 300 m.p.h., while the levacar requires only 25 h.p. at any speed! Moreover, the advantage in favor of the levacar increases as the speed is increased.

Besides, think of the all-weather advantages, the comparative safety of being on terra firma, or almost!, at all times, plus the el-

Kaoteng Isle May Be First Red Target

KAOTENG ISLAND, off China (AP)—If Red China attacks in the north Formosa Strait this summer, this spit of rock rising out of the sea may be the first target.

For Nationalist Chinese troops, Kaoteng stands sentry just off the tip of Red China's Huangchi Peninsula, which throws a thin protecting arm around a Communist navy base in Lo-yang Bay. Lo-yang would be a major marshaling area for a Communist amphibious assault.

Closest to the mainland of any of the islands in the Nationalist-held Matsu complex, tiny Kaoteng (seven-tenths of a square mile) is a place from which to watch the enemy and a place from which to fight if necessary.

Like the rest of the Nationalist offshore islands, Kaoteng is dug into solid rock. It withstood a 3,000 shell bombardment in 1958 without major damage and is in far better condition today.

Rock caverns deep below the surface are piled high with food and ammunition. Fresh water is available from springs.

Much of the island rises in sheer cliffs out of the sea.

Well-gunned itself, Kaoteng also can call on bigger Peikantang, two miles away, and still bigger Matsu, five miles away, for a 4-tillery barrages to rain down on the sea approaches.

Boy Scouts

Return from Training Camp

The Boy Scouts of the First EUB Church, Troop 155, have returned from a one-week training session at Camp Lazarus.

There were many advancements in first and second class ranks, and seven scouts attained a total of nineteen merit badges.

A banner was given to the troop for having the cleanest site three out of four days.

Camp Lazarus offers many opportunities for advancement in both rank and merit badges, having a fully trained staff for help and guidance. The camp slogan this year was "Learn by Doing".

Those attending were: Robert Radcliff, Scoutmaster, and Jerry Smallwood, Robert Pritchard, Danny Pritchard, Danny Gibbs, Larry Payne, Scotty McFarland, Charles Daniels, and Ralph Cline.

Vendors Must File Monthly Returns

All persons having Ohio vendor's licenses are required to file monthly sales tax returns except vendors who have been authorized by the Tax Commissioner to make and file returns on a semi-annual basis.

Monthly returns for the month of June and semi-annual returns for the first half of 1962 must be received by the Treasurer of State not later than July 31 to avoid a one dollar per day fine for delinquent filing.

The Department of Taxation will have an examiner stationed at the Pickaway County Courthouse on July 23 to assist vendors in filing their return.

Imitation of long treks to and from suburban airports, and you see why Detroit is "high" on levacars.

U.S. Jazz Tour Of Russia Is Called Success

MOSCOW (AP)—Benny Goodman says he is satisfied his six-week jazz tour of the Soviet Union was a success—despite some grumbling among members of his band that he played it too cool.

America's "King of Swing" dropped a hint why he kept the swinging in low gear. Soviet authorities were afraid he'd turn young Russians into real cats who might get out of control.

"They had read about riots caused by rock 'n roll and I don't think they wanted any of that," Goodman said. "Strangely enough I was in accord with the Russians. That was the last thing I wanted. I wanted applause from the audience—that was all I wanted."

The tour brought live American jazz to Moscow, Sochi, Tiflis, Kiev, Leningrad and far-away Tashkent.

An estimated 180,000 persons heard the band and most of them applauded enthusiastically. There were exceptions, but many of these were older people or Communist party members who deliberately sat on their hands.

The applause would have been even greater if the band had not suffered from a certain amount of internal dissension. Goodman preferred older tunes, while the band wanted hot, modern stuff.

Still, everyone connected with the tour considered it a successful contribution to the improvement of Soviet-American relations.

Lois Wittich Sings with Choir In East Berlin

Miss Lois Wittich, daughter of Mrs. J. C. Beery, 137 Pinekey St., is a member of the Chapel Choir of Capital University Choir now touring Europe.

The choir performed on the Communist side of the Berlin wall Thursday and in East Berlin drew the largest audience of any of the 16 performances scheduled. More than 2,000 East Berliners came to hear the concert at the Protestant Marien Church in the Soviet sector.

Miss Wittich, in a correspondence to her mother, said that to cross the border into East Berlin they were requested to show passports, and a list of all their money and travelers checks. Cameras were checked and the concert had to be given without robes, risers, or programs. They were simply allowed to walk across sing, and return.

The students will sing a concert in Hamburg, the last stop of their five-week tour, and will leave for home Tuesday.

Levacar To Be New Means Of Air Travel . . . by Rail

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

DETROIT — Downtown New York City to downtown Philadelphia in half an hour — by rail!

In the same way that military strategists always have forecast that an adequate defense invariably comes along to counteract every new offense, the harrassed railroads may have the answer at last to what appeared to be their nemesis: air travel.

An automobile manufacturer — of all things! — may have hatched the idea for an ultimate answer to rail travel problems in the shape of a 200-passenger "levacar" which will scoot a speed up to 500 miles an hour on cushions of air only a thousandths of an inch thick!

Engineers at Ford, whose "flivver" ironically shares blame for putting the railroads on the skids initially, believe that they have the formula for the railroads to rise Phoenixlike from the ashes of their current passenger train troubles and reassure themselves as haulers of mass transportation between huge population centers.

The Seattle World's Fair's vaunted monorail would be far eclipsed

ed by the new wheel-less levacar, which Ford calls the "Aeolus" after the Greek god of the wind, but it also shows the way for its rapid development in urban centers.

Pairs of square rails would be mounted over existing rights of way in the manner of the monorail, so that the levacars could have their cake and eat it, too. Slower freight trains would use existing ground level routes, while air-propelled trains, traveling at fantastic speed on "levipads" instead of wheels, would zip back and forth overhead.

This is the rail version of the aerocars which have created a sensation in recent years. With wheel-less vehicles apparently at their speed ceiling of around 200 miles per hour, motor car makers may be trying to make sure that the boom in technology of the next few years will not leave them in the lurch.

Chrysler is experimenting intensively with turbine engines, as are other auto manufacturers, including American Motors, Studebaker-Packard is teaming with Curtiss-Wright on aerocar development, and Ford may be setting out to challenge General Motors' already big role in manufacturing railroad locomotives.

Successful working models of levacars carrying several persons indicate that it is far from being just a dream on the engineer's drawing boards. Tiny jets of air directed at the rail miraculously eliminate friction, and propellers fore and aft provide the thrust for phenomenal speeds.

Calculations by the engineers show how far they have come: A levacar carrying 200 passengers will have a gross weight of 76,000 will be needed to lift each ton, plus an additional eight horsepower for guidance. This value remains constant regardless of the speed of the vehicle.

An additional 160 horsepower will be required to move the Aeolus 100 miles an hour. Since power increase by the cube of the velocity, this means 4,320 h.p. for 300 m.p.h. These values actually give the levacar a distinct power advantage over modern aircraft.

Similar engineering analysis shows that an airplane needs 80 h.p. for each ton of weight at 300 m.p.h., while the levacar requires only 25 h.p. at any speed! Moreover, the advantage in favor of the levacar increases as the speed is increased.

Besides, think of the all-weather advantages, the comparative safety of being on terra firma, or almost! at all times, plus the el-

Kaoteng Isle May Be First Red Target

KAOTENG ISLAND, off China (AP)—If Red China attacks in the north Formosa Strait this summer, this spit of rock rising out of the sea may be the first target.

For Nationalist Chinese troops, Kaoteng stands sentry just off the tip of Red China's Huangchi Peninsula, which throws a thin projecting arm around a Communist navy base in Lo-yan Bay. Lo-yan would be a major marshaling area for a Communist amphibious assault.

Closest to the mainland of any of the islands in the Nationalist-held Matsu complex, tiny Kaoteng (seven-tenths of a square mile) is a place from which to watch the enemy and a place from which to fight if necessary.

Like the rest of the Nationalist offshore islands, Kaoteng is dug into solid rock. It withstood a 3,000 shell bombardment in 1958 without major damage and is in far better condition today.

Rock caverns deep below the surface are piled high with food and ammunition. Fresh water is available from springs.

Much of the island rises in sheer cliffs out of the sea.

Well-gunned itself, Kaoteng also can call on bigger Peikantang, two miles away, and still bigger Matsu, five miles away, for a 4-tillery barrage to rain down on the sea approaches.

Boy Scouts Return from Training Camp

The Boy Scouts of the First EUB Church, Troop 155, have returned from a one-week training session at Camp Lazarus.

There were many advancements in first and second class ranks, and seven scouts attained a total of nineteen merit badges.

A banner was given to the troop for having the cleanest site three out of four days.

Camp Lazarus offers many opportunities for advancement in both rank and merit badges, helping a fully trained staff for help and guidance. The camp slogan this year was "Learn by Doing".

Those attending were: Robert Radcliff, Scoutmaster, and Jerry Smallwood, Robert Pritchard, Danny Pritchard, Danny Gibbs, Larry Payne, Scotty McFarland, Charles Daniels, and Ralph Cline.
